Com. Rosendahl First To Testify Before Probers

Says Conditions At Lakehurst Were Entirely Satisfactory For Landing

DESCRIBES SCENE OF LANDING ATTEMPT

First Saw Small Burst Of Flame On Aft Portion Of Dirigible

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 10.—Commander Charles E. Rosendahl of the Lakehurst naval air station, testifying today at the department of commerce's inquiry into the cause of the dirigible Hindenburg disaster, which caused the death of 35 persons, declared that in his opinion "conditions were entirely satisfactory for landing".

"We have accomplished landings in rainstorms much like the one in the hour preceding the Hindenburg's arrival," he said. "There was occasional lightning in the south and southwest but local conditions were improving rapidly."

Delayed Several Hours.

Rosendahl said the Hindenburg was due to arrive at 6 a. m. Thursday but he received dispatches telling of headwinds and showing the ship would be at least 12 hours late.

Arrangements were made for a ground crew of 231 men—92 navy men, 139 experienced civilians.

"We sent radio messages to the ship saying the weather here was unsettled," he told the board. "There was a low pressure area around the station with moderate thunderstorms at 4 p. m. At 5:30 p. m. the local thunderstorms were continuing."

Soon afterward the storms abated and at 5:43 p. m., EST, he sent a message to the Hindenburg reading: "Landing conditions unsettled. Recommend a delay. Please advise."

Rosendahl said that ten minutes later he received a message from Captain Max Pruss, commanding

Some idea of the large crowd that attended the Nazarene convention sessions at the Cathedral on Sunday could be gained by the huge array of parked cars on streets in the vicinity of the Cathedral. Parking space for blocks around was utilized during the greater part of the day.

Increasing number of traffic accidents in which bicycle riders are injured, serves to emphasize the need of caution by bicyclists. In too many instances these riders seem to ignore the traffic safety regulations. No auto driver would willingly figure in an accident with one of these bicycle riders, but safety must be observed by the boys and girls as well as the auto drivers, if the accidents are to be halted.

Hindenburg Disaster Survivor Stops Here

His face one huge blister and his hands badly seared and burned, Herbert James O'Laughlin, of Chicago, one of the survivors of the horrible "Hindenberg" disaster at Lakehust, N. J., Thursday night, May 6, stopped in New Castle Saturday night long enough to get a shampoo and a dinner.

Mr. O'Laughlin's escape from death is a story that reads like the wildest kind of fiction. For a few brief moments he stared death in the face as the flame enshrouded Hindenberg plummeted to the earth with 100 on board.

Mr. O'Laughlin is a business man of Chicago, Ill., and had been in Europe on a vacation. His return date coincided with the first trans-Atlantic trip of the German dirigible and he booked passage on her.

Ready To Step Out

"I was sitting in the lounge as we floated in towards the mooring mast at Lakehurst," said Mr. O'Laughlin. "The trip across was a smooth one and I was about ready to step out on American soil. As I sat there, there was a terrific explosion which rocked the giant airship."

"Immediately flames broke out in every direction and as I picked myself up from the floor I could see

State Hospital Site Selection Is Delayed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG May 10—Gov. Geo. H. Earle stepped outside his cabinet today for more counsel on the selection of a site for the proposed $2,500,000 state tubercular sanitarium in Western Pennsylvania.

He called upon Dr. Arthur Stengle, University of Pennsylvania medical professor, to choose two eastern friends and investigate likely locations for the new institution, sought by more than 75 western communities.

Operating apart from the State Health Department, the special committee will report directly to the governor with its recommendations.

In announcing his appointment of Dr. Stengle, Governor Earle said: "I asked Dr. Stengle to pick eastern doctors because I want an entirely unbiased report. I want men

Screen Actors Strike Averted At Hollywood

Stars Return To Cameras Today After Settlement Of Players' Demands

CRAFT STRIKE IS STILL IN PROGRESS

Federation Chief Believes Agreement Near For Technical Groups Now

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—Having won a virtual closed shop and pay raises for extras and "bit" players, Hollywood stars returned to the cameras today after hurling a strike threat at producers.

A walkout of the 5600 members of the Screen Actors Guild—including almost every major star in the film capital—was averted at the zero hour last night when producers capitulated to the players' demands.

Despite loss of the powerful Guild's support, leaders of the striking Federation of Motion Picture Crafts threw their 5,000 pickets back before the major studios today and announced "the strike is still on."

Charles Lessing, Federation chief, indicated he thought the producer capitulation to the actors heralded a similar agreement for the technical groups.

Craft Strike Continues

"However, the agreement between the producers and the actors will

Children Happy; Play Spots Open

Frank Leonard, Project Head, Announces Opening Of 11 Centers

New Castle's school children, approximately 12,000 in number, are happy.

For today marks the opening of the W. P. A. recreation division summer playgrounds, Frank Leonard, project head recreation, announced this morning.

There are 11 centers throughout the city, namely: Gaston Park, Dean Park, Rose Bowl, Park avenue, Arthur McGill, Sunny avenue playground, West Side playground, Mahoning, Moravia street, George Washington, Crawford - Oakridge, and St. Philip-James.

These centers will operate from 3:30 to 7 o'clock, all day on Saturday, until further notice, it was announced. Capable leaders will be in charge, their work being to assist all children in safe leisure time activities. For further details, call Mr. Leonard at 4750. Ben Franklin playground opens later.

From now until the leaves commence to turn, New Castle's playgrounds will hum with activities as the children while away the day amid the healthy sunshine and air.

Two Thousand Attend Nazarene Sunday Session

Week's Convention At Cathedral Closes With Record Sunday Attendance

NEW MINISTERS ARE ORDAINED

Assignment Of Pastors In Pittsburgh District For Year Is Announced

Record crowds attended the services in the Cathedral auditorium which on Sunday brought brought the Thirtieth annual Pittsburgh District Assembly of the Nazarene church to a close after a week of business and evangelistic sessions.

Two thousand people were there for the impressive ordination service which opened at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Twelve men were at that time ordained to the ministry and a stirring sermon was delivered by Dr. J. B. Chapman, general superintendent, on "Seven Advices to Preachers."

Ministers Are Ordained

Rev. C. B. Wood, district secretary of Lisbon, O., formally presented the candidates for ordination. The charges to the candidates were made by Retiring District Superintendent C. Warren Jones, District Superintendent-Elect O. L. Benedum, and Rev. Charles C. Hanks, of Akron, O., the new district treasurer.

While the new ministers knelt before him, Dr. Chapman, assisted by the clergymen named above, offered the ordination prayer and presented the parchments.

LONDON, May 10.—Awed thousands caught a preliminary glimpse of coronation pageantry today when King George and Queen Elizabeth decked out in their robes of royalty, participated in a rehearsal of the coronation procession from the annex of Westminster Abbey to the Dais within the ancient edifice itself.

Enormous crowds saw the king and queen, the Dukes of Kent and Gloucester and the Archibishop of Canterbury a tremendous ovation when they appeared in their coronation robes and accessories.

Clerics participanting in the rehearsal wore their state copes and the only thing lacking were the crown jewels themselves. Bearers of the regalia carried the purple and scarlet cushions on which the crowns and sceptres will repose during the actual coronation Wednesday.

Parking Meter System To Be Tried In City

Council Proceeds With Action Needed For Trial In New Castle

DETAILS OF PLAN BEING WORKED OUT

Council convened in the city building today and adopted a resolution suggested by Mayor Charles E. McGrath whereby a parking meter system will be installed on trial in this city, in the near future.

According to council the system will not cost the city any money. The company which gets the privilege will install the system and during the trial pay the city 15 percent of the receipts.

In answer to a question as to the remaining 85 percent, the mayor said this would go to the company and be applied on the cost of the equipment and in time the city would own it.

Help Solve Parking Situation

It was pointed out by the mayor that wherever any parking system has been installed it has become a permanent factor in helping to solve the parking situation.

Systems will be installed in Cleveland and New York and are now in

See Possibility Of Steel Strike In Some Plants

S.W.O.C. May Order Move In Battle Against Independent Steel Concerns

REPORT STRIKE IS VOTED BY MEMBERS

J. And L., Youngstown S. & T. Co., And Republic Are Companies Concerned

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 10—Definite possibility of a strike in the nation's big independent steel plants, employing over 150,000 men, suddenly loomed today as as CIO officials moved to enforce their demands for signed contracts.

Empowered by SWOC employes of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, and the Republic Steel corporation to call a strike, Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers organizing committee, prepared today to meet with other CIO officials to decide upon a definite line of action.

Events Move Rapidly.

Events moved fast over the weekend following the flat refusal of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, Republic Steel corporation and the Weirton Steel company to sign contracts with the SWOC.

Following similar action by SWOC employes of the Youngstown company and Republic Steel, 7500 CIO members of Jones & Laughlin voted to call a strike at the J & L. plant at 11 p. m. Wednesday unless an agreement was reached by that time.

Negotiations with practically all of the independent steel companies have been going on for some time,

Local Singers Win Prizes At Warren Contest

Mixed Chorus Ties For First Place; Male Chorus Gets A Second

EISTEDDFOD IS SATURDAY EVENT

New Castle can be very proud of her Welsh singers for they came through with flying honors at the big annual eisteddfod in Warren, O., Saturday.

New Castle's mixed chorus tied for first place with Youngstown in competition with the best singers in the western Pennsylvania-eastern Ohio district, and the male chorus brought home a second prize. These were New Castle's only entries and both were winners.

Welsh Language Used.

Not for many years has New Castle sent a chorus to sing in the Welsh language and it was surprising, to say the least, that first honor should be captured in competition with so many excellent organizations of such extensive experience.

A great deal of the credit goes to the director of the Welsh chorus, David W. Rees of East Reynolds street, and to the accompanist, Prof. Edwin Lewis of Highland avenue, both of whom were highly recommended by the adjudicators. With beautifully blended voices the group of some 30 singers, sopranos, altos, tenors and bass, sang, Saturday evening, the beautiful Welsh anthem, "Ar Lan'r Iorddonen Ddofn". The first prize money, $100, was divided between the local choir and that of Youngstown.

Male Chorus Second.

New Castle's male chorus has been in existence for three years and is better known as the new Welsh Mixed Chorus.

Under the direction of Miss Gwladys Thomas, well known music teacher at Mahoning school, and with her sister Ann as accompanist, this chorus has never come home from an eisteddfod without a prize.

GOVERNOR TO CRACK WHIP

Drastic Steps May Be Taken

Earle Not Satisfied With Way His Program Has Progressed

IRKED BY ACTION TAKEN BY SENATE

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 10—Gov. George H. Earle drew up his political cat-o'-nine-tails today, determined to force some legislative cooperation from balky Democratic lawmakers as the 132nd legislature entered its 19th week.

Just how the whip was to be wielded was still somewhat of a mystery, although administration spokesmen indicated strongly the cracking may be heard in the form of an address before a joint gathering of the general assembly tonight.

Democratic senators were to be called into a session with the governor this afternoon, in a preliminary attempt to reweld a "harmonious" administration majority.

More Drastic Steps?

If this fails, the governor may take more drastic steps to push through the "must measures" he has advocated. Other means to this end were reported threats that the chief executive would invade the home districts of unruly legislators and make a state-wide radio appeal to the electorate.

Governor Earle, administration sources said, has seen the handwriting on the wall in the independent action of the senate and is far from satisfied with the way his program has progressed in the house. Particularly was he irked by the senate action in burying the full crew train bill, affecting railroad employment.

The incident was reported to be a straw that broke the administration camel's back after it had been weighed down considerably with trouble over the chain store tax bill and the Moomaw-Moran bill to abolish tax collectors in the state. The latter was tabled in the house.

Anxious to adjourn by May 28 at the very latest, administration leaders had been ready to compromise on parts of its legislative program. They soon learned, however, that, given an inch, the lawmakers were becoming eager to take the proverbial mile. With trouble openly brewing in the senate over bills to provide a permanent relief setup centralized in Harrisburg, some sort of amicable working agreement was seen by Democratic chieftains as a grave necessity.

out through the side of the ship. Flames were eating the ship covering and the girders were hot."

"I looked down and saw that we were dropping fast and in a desperate endeavor to save my life I crawled out over the hot girders and jumped."

"I seemed to land on my hands and knees and as I rolled over I could see the flaming wreck of the Hindenberg settling down on me. Somehow I got out from in under just before the ship settled to the ground."

"Not Sure What Happen Then"

"After that I am not sure what happened. All I saved was the clothes I had on. Somebody put another man's hat on me and I'm still wearing it. A stock of perfumes I purchased in Paris for my mother was in my luggage and of course all that was lost."

Mr. O'Laughlin was rushed to an East Orange hospital by plane immediately after the explosion, but after staying there one day, he insisted that he was in shape to go home. His mother urged him to not take a plane west to Chicago and a friend of his drove through and the two started back in an automobile.

"Would you travel by lighter-than-air craft again, after your awful experience?" was asked Mr. O'Laughlin.

Mustering what would pass for an awry smile, if his face hadn't been so badly blistered, he said, "Yes, I think I would."

Mr. O'Laughlin and his companion arrived in New Castle about five o'clock Saturday afternoon from Allentown and after dinner in The Castleton, left, expecting to stop over in Akron, O., Saturday night.

Saturday afternoon four male choruses competed and the local received the second prize, $50. The judges stated that both were so good that it had been difficult to decide, but that the decision to place Youngstown first was made because in that chorus were 50 voices instead of New Castle's 40, thus giving it a stronger tone. Other choruses in the contest were from McKeesport and Steubenville.

Patricia Taylor Winner.

A pupil of Miss Thomas', Patricia Taylor, 12-year-old resident of West Cherry street, tied for first prize in violin solos, and won first place in the recitation contests.

All in all New Castle's entrants were all well pleased with the showing they made and are looking forward to next year's festival.

officer of the Hindenburg, that said: "We will wait until you report that landing conditions are better."

At 6:12 p. m. Rosendahl sent a message reading:

"Conditions are now suitable for landing. Crew is ready. There are light thunderstorms over station at present but they are moving off."

Little Visibility.

The ceiling, according to Rosendahl, was about 500 or 600 feet.

"There was very little visibility," he said. "Although the ship was near we could not see it. At 6:15 p. m. I sent another message reading:

"'Recommend landing now because conditions are rapidly getting better.'"

Rosendahl stated that soon the Hindenburg was sighted .He told of the big silver ship circling the field and then heading toward the mooring mast.

"At this time the ceiling was from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, according to my estimates," he testified. "There was a very light rain and variable surface winds.

"We have accomplished landings in rain conditions such as there were at that hour preceding the disaster. There was nothing about the conditions that was unusual just prior to the disaster."

The Hindenburg approached in normal fashion, according to Rosendahl, and the ground crew members were "in all respects ready to receive it."

Dropped Nose Lines

"She dropped nose lines at 7:21 p. m.," he related. "She was then about 200 feet in the air. Conditions at that altitude were somewhat different from those on the ground. The wind was stronger, for one thing. The ground wind was westerly, and blowing 18 knots.

"I went to the mooring mast where I was stationed to confer with other mooring officers. Conditions were satisfactory and proceeding in a normal manner.

"In about four minutes after the trail ropes were dropped, and while the main mooring mast cable was being lowered, there occurred events which interrupted the normal landing proceedure. The ship was then about 700 feet from the mast. At no time did it come closer. Obviously I cannot give a complete description of the events that followed in chronological sequence. Others will have to supplement what I have to say."

Small Burst of Flame

Rosendahl said he observed "a small burst of flame" on the aft portion of the ship, on the top.

"My opinion was that this burst of flame spelled doom to the ship," he continued.

"I watched the flames, or rather I saw practically the whole stern take fire. Then the fire spread progressively forward.

"I was greatly surprised that there were not more explosions connected with the fire.

"In my opinion the incident was the consumption of the ship by the burning of the hydrogen.

"It is of course obvious that I have no knowledge of the origin of the fire.

"The ship assumed a stern down position as the fire burned. Then it settled down.

"I shouted to the ground crew to run and get clear of the wreckage. Shortly after the ship reached the ground in this burning condition. There was great confusion. Most of the ground crew returned immediately to the wreckage while it was still burning."

COMPLETES HOP ACROSS ATLANTIC FOR THIRD TIME

Lines, Merrill landed first at the royal air force airdome near North Weald, Essex.

This landing was made at 6:10 p. m. (1:10 p. m. E. D. T), The fliers left at 6:22 p. m. (1:22 p. m. E. D. T.) for Croydon.

Merrill and Lambie hope to fly back across the Atlantic immediately after the coronation. Before leaving New York, Merrill expressed the hope of being home again by Thursday.

Take Off For Croydon

The landing at North Weald was made for the purpose of asking directions.

"Merrill made a perfect landing," an P. A. F. officer at North Weald said. "They took off again for Croydon immediately after obtaining directions."

Planning to be back in New York on Thursday, Merrill and Lambie left Floyd Bennett field at 4:36 p. m., E. D. T. yesterday.

Merrill made a good landing when he brought his heavy ship down before the eyes of a crowd which had become increasingly concerned over his safety as the time passed. The airmen had hoped to complete the trip in 18 hours.

"But we had bad weather all the way," Pambie said. "We hit Ireland at 2 P.M. (9 A.M. E.D.T.), and completed the trip in just over 21 hours."

If the fugitive sculptor murdered those three people, his punishment will be awful. Old man Gedeon was tortured thirty three hours merely for being a relative.

Deaths of the Day

William J. Park Funeral

Saturday afternoon at two o'clock funeral services for the late William J. Park, prominent Lathrop street resident, were conducted in the A. Darrell Burke funeral home, with Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor of the Central Christian church, in charge.

Pallbearers were Clifford Vance, James Blair, Robert Frazier, William Spicer, George Petrie and James Conti Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Burich

Mrs. Mary Burich, aged 60 years, of Carbon, Pa., near Lowellville, widow of George Burich, died Saturday at about noon after three years of illness.

Mrs. Burich was born in Austria on May 25, 1877, and came to the United States 35 years ago. She was a member of St. Lawrence church, the Croatian Fraternal Union and the Slovanian National Jeduota.

Surviving are two daughter, Mrs. John Medovich of Struthers, O., and Catherine, at home, and two sons, Andrew and John, at home.

Funeral mass will be celebrated Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Anthony's church, Bessemer, and interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Martin Laughlin Funeral

Requiem mass for the late Martin Laughlin of Park avenue was celebrated this morning at 9:30 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Vincent O'Donnell of the New Castle hospital officiating.

There were many lovely flowers sent by friends in memory of the deceased one.

Pallbearers were William Semler, Howard Owens, John Abel, William Kennedy, Joseph Wirtz and F. H. Hitchcock. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Caroline Sayers

Mrs. Caroline Sayers, aged 95 years, who resided in Mahoningtown for 75 years, died from infirmities of old age, Sunday, at Coitsville, O. She had been ill for the past three years.

Mrs. Sayers, widow of Patrick Sayers, was born in North Beaver township on June 10, 1841, daughter of pioneer settlers, Joseph and Eva Shaffer. Most of her lifetime was passed in Mahoningtown, where she was a member of the Methodist church, but after the death of her husband she made her home with her niece, Eva Carpenter, in New Castle, for three years; from there she went to Wheatland with her nephew, T. A. McJunkin, and after a year moved with him to Youngstown R. D. 1, where she lived for 16 years prior to her death.

The body has been brought to the Ritchie funeral home in New Castle where services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with a Coitsville minister in charge. Interment will be made in Valley View cemetery, Mahoningtown.

Announcement is made that friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday night from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Samuel Ross

Mrs. Mary Ross, aged 57 years, wife of Samuel Ross, of 1103 Butler avenue, died at her home Sunday night at 9:45 o'clock, after an illness of some time.

Mrs. Ross was born June 13, 1879, in Italy. She leaves her husband, the following children, Mrs. Clara Policell of Buffalo, N. Y., Mrs. Lucy Foschini, Andy, Anna, Mrs. Gertrude Valiensi, Mrs. Violet Bartolino, Dominick, George, John and Helen, of this city, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Elmer Arthur Lestmett

Elmer Arthur Lestmett, aged 15 years, son of Mrs. Jane English Lestmett and the late William Lestmett, died Sunday morning at 5 o'clock at the residence, Slippery Rock township, about two miles from Portersville.

The boy, a member of the Portersville U. P. church and a student in Sunnyside school, had been ill only a week. Death was caused by blood poisoning resulting from an infection on his upper lip.

His mother, two brothers, Roy and George, at home, three sisters, Mrs. Mary Guyer, of County Line street, New Castle; Bessie and Elizabeth, at home, and his grandmother, Mrs. Allen English of Butler, survive. His father died seven years ago.

Funeral services will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Portersville U. P. church in charge of the Presbyterian pastor, Rev. George H. Cheeseman. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Examine Learners Here Tuesday

State Highway patrol will test prospective motor car drivers between the hours of 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. Tuesday in Sampson street, it was stated today. Prospective motorists will be examined in order of their arrival and no examinations will be conducted after 3 p. m. because of the examiners having to return to Butler.

compound fracture of the skull at the base of the brain, along with other injuries.

Two Seriously Hurt.

The other occupants of the car are in the Jameson Memorial hospital, where two of them are still in a serious condition this morning. They are:

Mrs. Mary Picarello, aged 24, Washington street, Lowellville, compound fracture of left leg, suffering from shock; Raffalene Picarello, aged 4, Washington street, Lowellville, lacerations of head; Donald Lellio, aged 40, East Railroad street, Lowellville, lacerations of face and injuries to chest; Mrs. Marjorie Lellio, aged 38, East Railroad street, Lowellville, possible internal injuries, lacerations of scalp; Lucy Lellio, aged 12, fracture of left leg; Andy Lellio, aged 5, possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Picarello, Andy Lellio and Mrs. Lellio all spent uncomfortable night, and their condition was still regarded as serious this morning, while the others are showing signs of improvement, it was stated this morning at the hospital.

Accident Bad One.

According to Coroner Orville Potter and State Highway Patrolmen Hoke and Miller, who investigated the accident, it was one of the worst of its kind that has occurred in this district in some time.

The automobile, a 1932 model sedan, had evidently been traveling at a high rate of speed and struck a patch in the road, which had recently been re-surfaced with limestone, which had not been finely crushed. When the car struck the spot, it is believed the condition of the roadway caused it to roll off the highway and it went down over an embankment and struck a tree, which entered the car at the left front side of the body, alongside the driver's seat, the impact driving the tree into the back seat of the car.

Mrs. Picarello, who was sitting in the back seat, had her left leg caught between the tree and seat, and her leg was so badly crushed it is feared that it will have to be amputated.

She was not extricated from this position until about twenty minutes after the crash. A truck was secured which pulled the car away from the tree far enough to allow her to be removed. The car was still in that position Sunday, and many curious visited the scene.

An ambulance was summoned from New Castle and took Mr. Scopacasa and the two women to the hospital here, while the others were brought in in private cars.

The group was en route to the Union Limestone quarry settlement to visit friends when the accident occurred, it was stated.

The accident was discovered soon after it had occurred by a boy living near the scene, who ran into Edenburg and summoned help, Coroner Potter stated.

The road on which the accident occurred leads to the west from the south end of the Edenburg viaduct, and runs back to the property of the Union Limestone Company.

both sides of the road, and as consistent as if planted by human hands, this yellow flower is growing in all its brilliance.

A supply of the new official Pennsylvania road map, issued for free distribution by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, has been received by the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, where they may be secured by motorists interested.

It is noticed that cars going through New Castle bearing new 1937 license plates from the state of Florida, now have two plates instead of the usual one, which was used in former years.

Rain falling on the new Edenburg viaduct is doing a great deal of destruction. It is noticed that portions of the earth sides are gradually being washed away. At one point along this crossing a portion of the guard rail is now washed out.

PARKING METER SYSTEM TO BE TRIED IN CITY

operation in Pittsburgh, Meadville, Sharon and a large number of other cities.

The receipts come from autoists who park for a certain price for an allotted period. The time can be made to suit the traffic needs of the city, the mayor stated.

Six Months Trial

He expressed the opinion that he believes a six months trial would convince the people that the parking meter will go a long way toward benefitting everybody concerned.

The mayor also stated that no system has been removed after it has been tried and added that the installation here will be a trial with no money being paid out of city funds.

The city solicitor and engineer in the resolution were ordered to prepare the necessary legislation and plans.

It is not known exactly when the installation will take place.

No firm has yet received the privilege.

DRIZZLING RAIN AS CORONATION WEEK IS STARTED

sodden flags, bunting, and flowers, Mackintosh-wearing crowds, and muddy streets provided a gloomy inauguration today to the anticipated brilliance of coronation week.

The weather bureau was flooded with anxious inquiries, but prophets were unable to promise anything beyond "bright intervals" for Wednesday.

Britain's traditional weather bugaboo, a depression centered over Ireland, was responsible for today's rain, and on the depression's movements depended the outlook for coronation day.

Fourteen Liners Arrive

Southampton witnessed the busiest day in its history, with 14 liners, led by the Queen Mary, bringing in nearly 8000 sight-seers from overseas. Twenty-five special boat trains sped them to London.

Four stowaways, including one woman, were discovered aboard the Queen Mary, and all will be sent back to the United States—without seeing the coronation.

King George and Queen Elizabeth will officially usher in coronation week tonight with a state banquet in Buckingham Palace, to be attended by 450 guests.

The affair will be divided into two parts. The king will preside in the white-and-gold ballroom, where the famed royal gold plate will be used, and Queen Elizabeth will officiate in the supper room, where the guests will be served on the China service formerly used by the Knights of the Garter.

The guests, in full uniform of rich gowns, wearing decorations or jewels, in the presence of the entire royal family except the Duke of Windsor, and a host of prominent foreigners, insure one of the most dazzling affairs since the days of King Edward VII.

Hammering and sawing filled the west end as stores cleared their windows and fitted in seats and workmen completed stands and street decorations.

Welcome Guests

Troops from all over the country continued to march into their camps in Hyde and other parks, converted into morasses by the rain.

Officials from Buckingham Palace and Whitehall rushed from station to station to welcome distinguished foreign guests, chief of whom today were the crown prince and princess of Sweden.

Police were at their busiest in years, protecting the notables—especially the German delegation. Scotland Yard feared some communist incident, particularly after Joachim Von Ribbentrop the German ambassador, welcomed Field Marshall Werner Von Blomberg, German war minister, at the station with a flourishing Nazi salute.

Other arrivals included General Marie Gustave Gamelin and foreign minister Yvon Delbos of France; King Leopold of Belgium, Crown Princess Juliana of Holland and her bridegroom, Prince Bernard; Prince Paul of Yugoslavia, and Crown Price Michael of Rumania.

General John J. Pershing, James W. Gerard, and Admiral Rodman of the American delegation, will be present at tonight's state banquet.

STATE HOSPITAL SITE SELECTION LIKELY TODAY

who can have no possible interest in one site or another.

"It's a most important thing that the site picked be the best for the patients. There can be no politics when it comes to sick people."

The governor said a site recommendation had been made to him by Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, secretary of health, which he had not looked at.

"If the recommendations of the two groups differ," said the governor, "Dr. MacBride-Dexter and Dr. Stengle will be asked to argue it out before the authority board."

The governor had been expected to announce the site this afternoon on which the general state authority will construct the sanitarium.

Conference This Afternoon.

(International News Service)

Harrisburg, May 10.—Western Pennsylvanians seeking the honor of playing community host to the proposed new $2,500,000 state tubercular hospital may have their invitations answered late today.

Gov. George H. Earle was expected to name the site on which the general state authority will construct the new institution following a conference this afternoon. Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, secretary of health, who comes from Mercer county, was said to have eliminated all but four or five counties for the governor's consideration.

Lawrence, Westmoreland and Beaver counties were reported as locations being favorably considered, although administration heads refused to commit themselves on a likely choice. About 75 communities in all have bid for the institution.

MOTHER'S DAY IS CELEBRATED

Mrs. Mary Conti delivered an appropriate address on "Mother," Sunday afternoon at the meeting of the Mother of Sorrow society, of St. Vitus church, held in the basement of the church.

"Mothers' Day" was impressively observed. Following her address, Mrs. Conti presented the 150 or more mothers present with attractive red roses. The women were gathered around a circle, forming an appealing picture.

BEADEL-LESLIE DATE ANNOUNCED AT PARTY

Honoring Miss Harriet Beadel, bride-elect, Mrs. Paul McWilliams, of 406 Highland avenue entertained at a dessert-bridge Saturday afternoon. The occasion was a medium for announcing June 26 as Miss Beadel's wedding date, when she will become the bride of Fred Leslie.

Miss Beadel was presented with a lovely gift during the afternoon. Miss Rhoda Leslie won high honors in cards.

Mrs. McWilliams was aided by her sister, Miss Martha Jo McGoun and Miss Iva Mayberry.

SURPRISE SHOWER AT EARL RESIDENCE

A delightful surprise event of Saturday evening was the party tendered Mr. and Mrs. Johnrae Earl of W. Washington St. extension, a bride and groom of recent date, when a group of neighbors and friends honored them at a miscellaneous shower in their home. Mrs. Clyde Stump presided as hostess.

Tables of 500 provided the main diversion, with prizes fallin, to Mrs. Clyde Stump and Mrs. C. M. Pugh for winning honors. The serving of a delicious menu of refreshments was a later pleasure, with the seasons appointments predominating. The hostess was aided by Mrs. Johnrae Earl, Mrs. Emma McKissick and Miss Anna Rae.

A collection of lovely gifts, were received by the honored couple, to use in their home.

SECTION ONE WILL MEET ON WEDNESDAY

Section One members will gather in the First Christian church Wednesday afternoon for luncheon at 1 o'clock and a regular meeting to follow. The hostess of the occasion will be Mrs. A. W. Mercer.

Rebekah Lodge

Members of the Rebekah Lodge No. 40 will meet this evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. A special Mother's Day program has been planned.

MISS JOYCE WINGERD IS ENGAGED TO MARRY

Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wingerd, of 328 Park avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Joyce, to John R. Cooper, son of Mrs. William A. Cooper, of Conshohockan, Penna.

The wedding is scheduled for the early fall.

SHOWER HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Herman McCartney, formerly Helen Grotefend, was honored at a shower Friday evening by Miss Jane Young, of East Washington street.

The hours were spent at bridge with prizes going to Mrs. E. E. Grotefend and Miss Doris Davidson. After luncheon was served the guest of honor was directed by means of vari-colored umbrellas, to a lovely collection of miscellaneous gifts.

PAST OFFICERS NO. 14 MARTHA SHRINE EVENT

Plans are completed for a 1 o'clock luncheon to be given by the Past Officers club of Martha Shrine No. 14, Thursday afternoon at a downtown tea room.

Reservations of those planning to attend will be received by Mrs. W. A. Tindall of Walmo, and Mrs. W. J. Ray, Sumner avenue.

Little Childhood Club

Little Childhood club met in the home of Margaret O'Leary, Scott street, recently. The time was spent playing games and enjoying musical selections.

Prizes were awarded to Lois Ann Deely, Virginia Brincko, Delores Callahan. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess' mother. Next meeting will be in the home of Constance Flannigan, of Leasure avenue.

1926 Ki Nu Club

Thursday evening the 1926 Ki Nu club will be receieved in the home of Mrs. James Gilliland, Youngstown road.

MOTHERS-DAUGHTERS GUESTS AT CASTLETON

In keeping with tradition of the Junior Business and Professional Women's club, they entertained at their annual mothers-daughters breakfast Sunday morning in The Castleton hotel at 9:30 o'clock.

Places were arranged for nearly 40 guests, dainty Gardenia corsages indicating where the mothers in attendance were seated ,and unique green and white program books were favors for all. A huge bouquet of mixed spring flowers in dresden shades formed the attractive centerpiece.

Miss Lucille Emery opened with the invocation, and Miss Sylvia Lee Martin gave the speech of welcome. At a suitable time, Miss Bertha Taylor pleased with a special song, with Miss Isabel Johnson accompanist. A reading was contributed by Gladie Biddle as the concluding feature.

Afterwards, the assemblage attended the services in a group, held at the First Christian church in observance of "Mothers' Day".

Misses Harriet Owens, Laura Ramsey and Pauline Booher composed the committee on arrangements.

INFORMAL AFFAIRS SATURDAY EVENTS

Cousins complimented Mrs. David G. Harris Saturday evening when fourteen of them gathered in the home of Mrs. George A. Rigby, Lincoln avenue, for a buffet supper at 6 o'clock.

Sharing honors with Mrs. Harris was Mrs. Eugene J. Kennedy, nee Ruth Woodworth, whose marriage took place in March.

After serving themselves to an abundance of tasty viands, the group found places at small tables in the living room where later hours were spent informally at bridge. Mrs. Amelia Wilson, who resides at the Rigby home, was a special guest.

At noon on Saturday, Mrs. Harris shared honors with Mrs. Clifton Brittain, of Wallace avenue, at another charmingly arranged party in the home of Mrs. John H. Jevon, on Highland avenue.

The guests of honor are both making changes in their residences, the former going from Youngstown to Philadelphia, and the latter to Pittsburgh to reside.

Appointments were developed in pastels with spring flowers, anemones and marguerites forming the centerpiece. Covers were laid for twelve guests for a delicious luncheon at one o'clock.

Afternoon hours were devoted to bridge with the favors falling to Mrs. Brittain, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Robert Armstrong.

THETA RHO GIRLS HONOR MOTHERS

Theta Rho Girls paid a lovely tribute to their mothers Friday evening, when a special dinner-program was given in I. O. O. F. hall.

Even though the rain kept some at home, and the circus attracted still others, there was a nice attendance, the smaller number probably having an even more enjoyable time, because everyone was congenial and informality was the keynote of the evening.

Table decorations were carried out in blue and peach, colors of the organization, with a little deeper shade in red blending to mark places with candy favors.

A nicely arranged program was presented afterwards, when there were readings and music. "When Mothers Visits School" and "Mammy Liza's Version of the Prodigal Son" were titles of two readings by Frma Hoover.

There were followed by another entitled "Before It Is Too Late", by Wilburta Cooper. Virginia Emery sang a solo, "Mother", and Thelma Thompson read "My Mother."

"A Boy's Mother" was given by Erma Hoover, and there was a dance skit by Sara Kegarise and Wilburta Cooper. Helen Park sang "A Little Old Lady", Mrs. Josephine Hoover gave a reading, "Just As Your Mother Was", and to conclude the program, there was still another reading by Mrs. Marie Roof, the subject of which was "The White Carnation."

SILVER ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED SUNDAY

A group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Vaneman on the old Pittsburgh road, to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary Saturday evening, May 8.

Games and music enlivened the hours, with two vocal solos by Lois and Betty Hogue being especially delightful. Luncheon was served from a nicely arranged table graced with spring flowers. Many lovely gifts were received by the honorees.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaneman went to housekeeping in Castlewood where they resided ten years. They moved then to their present home on the old Pittsburgh road where they have lived for 15 years.

They have two sons, David at home, and Frank, recently married, who has gone to housekeeping on Butler avenue. Mrs. Vaneman's maiden name was Rachel Hogue.

Birthday Party

Unique in every manner was the birthday party given for Lowell Leonhardt, of the Ellwood-New Castle road, in honor of his sixth birthday which occurred May 7.

A group of boy friends gathered to shower him with gifts and have a good time with a variety of games. Lowell's mother, with the assistance of his grandmother, served a very colorful dessert at a large table where a half dozen little boys were seated.

Pink and green tones predominated, a large birthday cake iced in these colors, and holding six lighted candles, gracing the table center. The rooms were filled with flowers which were among Lowell's gifts.

Anniversary Event

Women's Union Label League will celebrate their 14th anniversary on Tuesday evening, in the hall in the Wallace block, with a dinner at six o'clock. Mrs. Mary Patterson is general chairman, assisted by an able corps of workers.

AFTER THE DISASTER

HOPE for discovery of the direct cause of the Hindenburg disaster—the origin of the sparks that touched off the explosion—must await the searching official inquiries, being launched today by U. S. authorities.

A German commission of experts, headed by Dr. Hugo Eckener, is now on its way to this country to conduct an investigation in co-operation with our own authorities. The order for the immediate suspension of the Graf Zeppelin service to South America was not only an act of prudence, but an inevitable concession to German and world-wide public opinion.

The long record of safety for passenger-carrying dirigibles, operating with the steadiness and regularity of giant ocean steamships, can no longer be cited as an argument for the lighter-than-air craft now that the greatest of all lies a blackened, shapeless mass of wreckage on the field at Lakehurst.

No experts are needed to tell us that the huge gas bag of hydrogen was a standing invitation to the demons of disaster. It had been assumed that the ingenuity and long experience of the German designers and engineers had provided every possible safeguard against ignition, while still recognizing the inevitable risk attaching to the use of hydrogen.

Helium is proof against the hazards of fire and explosion. If it had been available to the Hindenburg this tragedy could not have occurred. But, as sad experience has shown, other special perils attend the passage of the dirigible through the air.

The forthcoming inquiries will be centered on the fate of the Hindenburg. But the interchange of expert views and opinions may have an important bearing on the future feasibility and usefulness of this type of aircraft for commercial purposes.

BETTER THAN WAR

Cooperation of the Navy Department and American scientists in the erection of the new 200-inch telescope near Pasadena suggests the benefits that will come when technical skill and knowledge are directed exclusively toward peaceful instead of militant ends.

It is indeed a sad commentary on modern civilization that engineering and scientific knowledge should be so largely devoted to perfection of the tools of war when so many opportunities exist for the advancement of human enlightenment and the promotion of worth while objectives.

Naval authorities deserve commendation for supporting the present astronomical undertaking.

BATTLING PNEUMONIA

Science continues to wage unrelenting warfare against sickness, periodically developing methods and medicines to curtail the slaughter by illness. Latest to announce a formidable foe of disease is Dr. W. W. G. MacLachlan, of Pittsburgh, who revealed at the dedication of the Mellon Institute that science has discovered a life-saving chemical that may reduce by one-half the number of deaths from pneumonia.

Pneumonia's death toll through the years has been terrifying. Scientists all over the world have devoted years of research to finding a remedy. Dr. MacLachlan's announcement is heartening and may pave the way for further discoveries that will relegate pneumonia to a place with once dread diseases which have been conquered.

THIS BURLESQUE CLEANUP

New York seems to be making another of its periodic efforts to clean up the burlesque stage. A number of theaters have been unable to renew their licenses, and the cleanup wave apparently is spreading across the country.

Some of its opponents have raised the cry of "censorship" and are pleading that this cleanup is an unwarrantable interference with the freedom of the theater. This protest has precious little foundation. It is always possible to rule out smut without depriving anyone of an essential liberty.

At the same time, another thought does occur to us. No one who objects to the sort of performances that are found in burlesque houses is under any obligation to go to them. Whether the cleanup lasts or not, you won't be shocked by burlesque if you refrain from buying a ticket.

MELLON INSTITUTE'S SERVICE

The magnificent new home of the Mellon Institute of Pittsburgh might be likened to the Parthenon except that it is so many times larger. The institution itself has long occupied a useful and distinguished field that is all its own.

Though titled an institute for industrial research, the speakers at the dedication made plain its supplementary and broader role of promoting scientific discoveries that have contributed to more than material welfare.

Studies pursued within the walls of its original stucture during the past quarter of a century have, in the words of Professor Harold Urey, been directed toward abolishing "drudgery, discomfort and want from the lives of men" and bringing them "pleasure, comfort, leisure and beauty."

The remark by the co-donor, Andrew W. Mellon, that the standard of living has been and will continue to be improved by new discoveries and inventions, rather than by governmental and political action, strikes a thoughtful and refreshing note.

In exploring these potentialities and devising means for their practical application the Mellon Institute, with its greatly expanded facilities, will render an indispensible service.

CHILDREN'S CHOIRS

The following contribution is from Mrs. Ward Peterson, Topeka, Kan., and is printed with her permission. I regret that it had to be cut.

"The plan of organized junior choirs has been satisfactorily tried out in the Protestant churches of Topeka, Kas., and with gratifying results, among the children who have begun pulling away.

"Each practice hour is made an occasion for a lesson about some desirable quality....The first lesson should impress the children with the idea that they are giving of themselves....Too often critics of religion say that children are taught to ask daddy and mother for money to do this or that service. Here is the opportunity to teach them to give of themselves and their talents....

"Next comes the idea of promptness....All members heartily agreed to the necessity for regular habits of personal hygiene, like clean necks and faces; sparkling teeth; carefully brushed hair, and well cared for finger-nails.....

"Immaculate white robes have a fascination for children of this age, and they take a great deal of pride in keeping the robes spotless....It is an inspiring sight in these days of hurry and speed to see the children tread, slowly and with quiet dignity, the rhythmic measures of the processional and to hear their voices raised in praise of God.

Learn Ease of Manner

"Many of the members of the junior choir in our church have had no opportunity to learn social ease and grace except at the teas which they give for their mothers, and at parties which the directors gives for them. The mothers usually help in the matter of the simple refreshments served, but the director gives the training as part of the choir work.

"Picture in your imagination the effects of all the junior choirs of the community, joining together during some hour of the holiday season to sing praises unto Christ, and to send out, in clear, childish tones, the message of good cheer, peace on earth, good will toward men.

"Best of all, the organized junior choir can be used in either a small church of a large one with equally satisfying results."

I am impressed with the value of pageantry as an appeal to boys and girls, especially in early adolescence. As a Protestant, I am glad to see this element coming more and more into our church services, though I grew up in a faith almost wanting in pageantry. There can be no doubt that our Catholic brethren have found their strong emphasis on pageantry an effective appeal to their youth. And in Jewish worship, pageantry has always had a large place. It is good psychology, and a good medium of religious expression.

THERE'S A TIDE

I have been to the shores of the oceans and I have seen the tide.

I have seen it ebbing, I have seen it flowing, seen it drifting back from the solid land, seen it rushing shoreward with more than the force of 10,000 furious elephants.

And the shore, when the tide was out, was flat and desolate and dirty. Drifted things lay there; broken shells and skulking creatures and odd small treasures were all about; the beach was an abandoned battlefield. But I waited and I waited and soon I felt a movement out there in the sea. I saw the waves higher and coming closer. The great force of the pale, daymoon was reaching out and drawing the waters to me. The tide was coming in. I knew it would. It had always come in and gone out and come in again. And the tide would always be, as long the the moon stood in the heavens.

The tide is always there. It is in little ponds. It is in streams. It is in lakes. The great Michelson, who died recently, measured it, even, in a narrow pipe....And some great man, some day, may even measure it in solid things like rock and steel and children's building blocks.

And I'm sure there's a tide, too, in human beings—in men and women who think all things are exactly what they seem. Who think heightened joy will last forever and deep despair will never go away from them. But there's a tide. There are moments and hours and days when that tide is out in the human heart and all the weakness and meanness and hopelessness and pettiness of life is laid bare for all to see. But the tide turns—and on the shore there is a great rush of waters and in the human heart there is a rush of hope and health and a new belief, and confidence in life and a certainty that all will be well. And the meanness is washed away and the poisons are cleansed away and the small records of living vanish into the deep.

Whether you believe in that tide or defy it with cynicism and despair, it exists! It goes and it returns. It leaves you strangled and it picks you up again. It is stronger than you and stronger than all your lonely bitterness. It will come back and wash you clean again—some day when you least expect it. That's true and you know it's true!

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Last week you gave valuable suggestions whereby stout women may apparently reduce their bulk. Will you now give some hints whereby thin women may camouflage their hollows and angles? STRING BEAN.

Answer—Avoid straight-line effects and dresses made along lines having angles; long, narrow skirts; short, tight and raglan sleeves; hats with very high crowns, wings or quills (now fashionable) standing up from the crown of the hat; high coiffures.

This season's bolero jackets, extending slightly below the waistline, will be flattering to your figure. So also will the puffed sleeves and circular capes now so fashionable; materials that stand out from the figure such as taffeta; horizontal designs; soft lace on the waist of your dress; short collars; a broken rather than a long, clinging line; long-haired light furs, if suitable to your coloring; (the small woman must have a small fur neckpiece); hats with low crowns and drooping brims (the latter if she is tall).

Dear Miss Markel—Is it ever correct to pick a bone up in one's hand at the dining table? EDNA MAY.

Answer—Bones should never be picked up with the fingers. The meat should be cut off, piece by piece, and whatever cannot be removed in this manner must be left thereon.

Are There Harmless Taxes?
Henry George Ideas Recalled.
Would Put Burden On Monopolies.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

WHAT KIND of taxes? That again has become a leading question, both as to federal and local governments.

We quoted in our previous column from Henry George's "Progress and Poverty" that taxes which have a tendency to reduce the production of wealth never should be resorted to.

That eliminates nearly every kind of tax.

What then?

Henry George remarked in 1879—and his words again are quoted today—that we should find we must tax ostentation, trade monopolies and land monopolies. Other taxes would reduce the production of wealth and would retard progress, he said.

HENRY GEORGE'S CIEW

This economist, whose works have become classics, wrote:

"Taxes which fall upon ostentation would simply turn into the public treasury what otherwise would be waisted in vain show. And taxes upon wills and devices of the rich would probably have little effect in the desire for accumulation, which, after it has fairly got hold of a man, becomes a blind passion. But the great class of taxes from which revenue may be derived without interference with production are taxes upon monopolies—for the profit of monopoly is in itself a tax levied upon production, and to tax it is simply to divert into the public coffers what production must in any event pay. ...

"There are onerous monopolies ...which result from the aggregation of capital in businesses which are of the nature of monopolies. It would be extremely difficult, if not altogether impossible, to levy taxes by general law so that they would fall exclusively on the returns of such monopoly and not become taxes on production or exchange. It is much better that these monopolies should be abolished. ..."

CHIEF MONOPOLY

"But all other monopolies are trivial in extent as compared with the monopoly of land. And the value of land expressing a monopoly, pure and simple, is in every respect fitted for taxation.

"That is to say, while the value of a railroad or a telegraph line, the price of gas or a patent medicine, may express the price of monopoly, it also expresses the exertion of labor and capital. But the value of land, or economic rent is in no part made up from these factors, and expresses nothing but the advantage of appropriation.

"Taxes levied upon the value of land cannot check production in the slightest degree until they exceed rent, or the value of the land taken annually, for unlike taxes upon commodities, or exchange, or capital, or any of the tools or processes of production, they do not bear upon production.

"The value of land does not express the reward of production, as does the value of crops, of cattle, of buildings, or any of the things which are styled personal property and improvements. It expresses the exchange value of monopoly.

"It is not in any case the creation of the individual who owns the land; it is created by the growth of the community. Hence the community can take it all without in any way lessening the incentive to improvement or in the slightest degree lessening the production of wealth.

"Taxes may be imposed upon the value of land until all rent is taken by the state, without reducing the wages of labor or the reward of capital one iota; without increasing the price of a single commodity, or making production in any way more difficult."

AS GEORGE SEES IT

"But more than this. Taxes on the value of land not only do not check production as do most other taxes, but they tend to increase production, by destroying speculative rent.

"How speculative rent checks production may be seen not only in the valuable land withheld from use, but in the paroxysms of industrial depression which, originating in the speculative advance in land values, propogate themselves over the whole civilized world, everywhere paralyzing industry, and causing more waste and probably

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A DOUBLE DANGER

Under a Bill introduced in the Senate, the United States would be literally covered by seven Federal electric "authorities" that would assume jurisdiction of the areas containing the rivers flowing into the Ohio and the Great Lakes, the Missouri, Mississippi and the Arkansas territory, and the Colorado and Columbia country. No section of the country with major water resources would be missed. Centralized government would encroach still farther on states' rights.

The stated purpose of these authorities, which would be Federal corporations probably grouped under one great Federal "holding company" already suggested, is the construction of dams, reservoirs and other works in the interest of navigation, flood control and wild life protection. But the Bill contains this highly significant paragraph: "Should any authority created by this act, upon investigation, deem it

HOUSE CLEANING

When all my ties are put away
And every closet shelf is bare;
When I arise at break of day
And cannot find a thing to wear;
When my one bureau drawer is cleared
And only handkerchiefs remain;
When all I want has disappeared,
I know she's cleaned the house again.

When I go searching round for shoes
I purposely had put away
And saved for gardening to use;
When shirts of mine have gone astray;
When all the treasures I possess
Are at the lowest minimum,
It does not take me long to guess
The annual cleaning time has come.

I know the household springtime cry,
I've heard it muttered oft before,
"Let's give away that coat and tie,
He'll never want them any more."
So when the "rubbish" that was mine
Has vanished from each room and den
And floors and walls and windows shine,
It means the house is clean again.

DR. C. NADER WEDS PITTSBURGH GIRL

Of interest locally was the impressive wedding ceremony solemnized in St. George's Greek Orthodox church, Pittsburgh, Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, when the Rev. Fr. George united in matrimony Miss Mathilda Nassar, daughter of George Nassar, of 1383 Milwaukee avenue, Pittsburgh, and Dr. Charles Nader, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Nader, of 1203 South Mill street, this city.

The wedding was performed before an assemblage of friends and relatives of the couple. The bride was stunningly gowned in white chiffon and a beautiful veil of real lace. She carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies. Miss Jay Bryan, of Carnegie, Pa., was maid of honor. Dr. M. E. Farrah, of Kensington, one of the groom's closest associates, served as best man.

Following the ring ceremony, the briday party, members of the immediate families and a number of out of town guests, gathered in the groom's home, 1203 South Mill street, where a delicious wedding dinner was served. Dr. and Mrs. Nader were tendered a delightful reception last evening in the Syrian hall, 422 East Long avenue. Several hundred persons were in attendance.

Late Sunday night the newlyweds departed for a honeymoon in Detroit, Mich., and Canada. Upon returning, in about a week, the Dr. and Mrs. Nader will reside at 1203 South Mill street.

Out of town guests present for the event included: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Antoon and family, of Oakmont, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Elias and family, of Jeannette; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Loweecy, of Jeannette; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Phillip, of New Kensington; Mr. and Mrs. Assad Bryan and family, of Ford City; Albert Swad, of Martins Ferry, O.; Abraham Swad, of Carnegie; Miss Frances Nader, of Cleveland; Albert Nader, of Massillon; Edward Barry, of Massillon; Kelly Haddad, of Canonsburg; Abraham Monsour, of Pittsburgh.

NORTH BEAVER CLUB MEETS ON TUESDAY

North Beaver Garden club has advanced the May meeting from Wednesday, the 12th, to Tuesday evening, May 11.

The meeting will take place in the home of Mrs. J. N. Fullerton, Mt. Jackson road, at 8 o'clock. A program on "Wildflowers" will be carried out.

Members of Women's Benefit Association, Reiew 98, Officer ' club, will meet tonight in the home of Mrs. Edgar Sherbine, Wilmington avenue. Mrs. Mina Davis and Miss Mildred Campbell will be cohostesses for the affair.

LITTLE TOT HONORED AT E. H. SCARAZZO HOME

Honoring her little granddaughter Sylvia Joan Tranquillo, daughter of Mrs. Carl Tranquillo of 512 Buckeye avenue, Warren, O., Mrs. E. H. Scarazzo, entertained a gathering of thirty youngsters accompanied by their mothers, in her home on West Laurel avenue, Saturday afternoon. The occasion was a medium of celebrating the second birthday anniversary of the former.

The hours were from 3 until 6:30 o'clock, and during this time, lively games and stunts were entered into by the youngsters, who ranged from one to six years old. Prizes were awarded to Anita Angelucci and Shirley Hill. A duet tap dance was given by Verna and Dickie Scarazzo, as an additional feature.

Among the participants, was the great grand-mother of Sylvia Joan, Mrs .C. Scarazzo of Pollock avenue, this city. Others attended from Sharon and Pittsburgh. Pictures were taken out of doors of the assemblage, during the afternoon hours.

Flowers decorated the house throughout, and when lunch time arrived, much attention was centered on the large tiered birthday cake topped with two glowing pink candles, the gift of the hostess to her little guest of honor. Mrs. Scarazzo was aided with the menu by Mrs. Tranquillo.

LUNCHEON-BRIDGE AT STITZINGER HOME

Luncheon-bridge Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ernest L. Stitzinger on Winter avenue interested a large number of guests, among whom was Mrs. Lowell W. King of Salem, O.

Aides in serving were Mrs. A. W. Shewman, Mrs. Wayne Stitzinger and Mrs. Rachel Taylor. Contract was in play at six tables, the smart awards falling to Mrs. Jay L. Reed and Mrs. William Klee.

Mrs. Stitzinger will be hostess at a similar party again on Wednesday of this week.

Members of the O. F. T. club met in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Burgo, Neshannock avenue, recently for a housewarming party.

The playing of 500 and bingo were the main diversions of the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. William Bowen, Mrs. Percy White, and to Mrs. Lawrence Burgo.

Mrs. Burgo was presented with a lovely collection of gifts. Lunch was served by Mrs. William Bowen and by Mrs. Percy White. Next meeting of the club will be held in Mrs. Burgo's home, Thursday, May 13.

Plan Party Event

Missionary Society of the First Baptist church is sponsoring a Mothers' and Daughters' party in the church parlor, Thursday, May 13, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

"Going Through Life With A Song", is the theme of the program. All mothers and daughters of the church will attend the party as guests of the society.

Gowanda Club

Mrs. G. J. Forest, of Florence avenue, will entertain as guests in her home Friday evening, members of the Gowanda club for their usual session.

Jolly Quilters

Mrs. Gladys Dickson has asked the 1934 Jolly Quilters to her home on Beckford street Thursday all day.

MRS. ELIZA CROWL HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Critchlow, 213 West Winter avenue, were hosts to a gathering of 45 guests Sunday evening in their home, the event being a party celebration honoring the latter's grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Crowl, who reached her 85th birthday. Mrs. Charles Crowl aided with arrangements.

The occasion was a total surprise to the guest of honor and surrounding her were four generations who shared in the festivities. They were served dinner at five o'clock at tables attractively appointed in the birthday theme, and informal diversions claimed attention afterwards.

Mrs. Crowl is in good health despite her advanced years and she enjoyed the party planned for her pleasure to the utmost. She is a member of the Second U. P. church and has many friends here. An array of lovely gifts was presented to her as additional remembrances of the day.

Guests from out of town attended from Butler, Ellwood City and Koppel.

DINNER PARTY HONORS MRS. FRANK DORSAY

As a courtesy to her mother, Mrs. Frank Dorsay, Miss Linnian Dorsay entertained in a pleasing manner Saturday evening a gathering of twenty guests informally at a dinner party at a prominent tea room downtown to celebrate her birthday anniversary.

After partaking of the tasty menu, the assemblage motored to the Dorsay residence on Wildwood avenue, where the balance of the evening was spent in card playing. Pretty favors were awarded to Mrs. John Waggoner, Mrs. Carl Wallace, Harry Haymond and Carl Wallace. At this time the guest of honor was presented with many personal gifts as mementos of the day.

To top the occasion off, a midnight lunch was served by Miss Dorsay. Spring suggestions predominated in the appointments throughout.

T. I. Club Honors Members

Honoring the mother of their club, Mrs. Nicholas Maciarello, of South Mill street, and another charter member, Mrs. George Ross, of Lutton street, associates of the T. I. club, afforded them a delightful surprise on Mothers' Day, by remembering each with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

The good wishes of the club accompanied the gifts, further testifying to the esteem in which they are held.

The regular meeting of the T. I. club will be held on Thursday evening, May 13, at the residence of Mrs. Nicholas Tuscano, Lutton street.

Sawalla Club Party

A theatre party at a local show house interested members of the Sawalla club on Friday evening with Mrs. Ralph Campbell, of Chestnut street, presiding in the role of hostess.

Afterwards she entertained them at the Leslie hotel, where they were served a refreshing lunch.

Mrs. Mildred Holmes, of McCleary avenue, will entertain at their next regular meeting Friday, May 21, in her home.

S. S. Bridge

In the home of Mrs. William Ellis on West Fairmont avenue Friday evening, the S. S. Bridge club was pleasantly entertained.

Prizes in cards went to Mrs. Everett Brest, who was also awarded the galloping trophy, and Mrs. J. H. Doyle. Refreshments were served with the aid of Mrs. A. M. Hyde.

On May 21 the next meeting will take place downtown, when Mrs. Ira Landis, of Winter avenue, will be hostess.

Workers Together Class

Members of the Workers Together Class of the Croton Avenue M. E. Sunday school will have their monthly business and social meeting at the Shuler home on Dewey avenue, Wednesday evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Jemima Waggoner, Mrs. Alma McCracken and Miss Lily Belle Hill.

A. G. P. Club Postponed

Section C Meeting

Mrs. Howard Gross, 107 Pine street, will be hosts Tuesday evening to Section C, Y. L. B., of the Third U. P. church.

SURPRISE SHOWER HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

Misses Marian Ginsberg and Sylvia Saul were joint hostesses on a recent evening at the home of the former on Lyndal street when they entertained jointly in honor of Miss Irene Saul, bride-elect.

A varied program of pastimes held attention, the main diversion being found in bridge. Mrs. Joe Greenberg, Miss Geraldine Wolf and Mrs. J. Wolf were the prize-winners.

After opening the array of beautifully wrapped packages, which revealed many nice gifts for Miss Saul's future home, the hostess served a dainty repast. Spring appointments predominated.

Miss Saul will wed Ruben Sigler the latter part of May.

Israel Sisterhood

Tifereth Israel Sisterhood members will gather in Tifereth Israel Synagogue, South Jefferson street, this evening at 7 o'clock for their monthly meeting and a Mothers-Daughters party.

Queen Esther Group

Nancy Reynolds Queen Esthers will meet at the home of Mrs. J. M. Edwards, 101 East Garfield avenue, Monday, May 10. Mite boxes will be opened at this meeting.

not alter our plans at all and until our demands are met, we will continue picketing studios and theatres," he said.

Lessing denied the strikers planned to boycott the actors whose terms have been accepted by the producers.

Announcement of the producers' recognition of the "Guild Shop" and agreement to wage boosts among the lower brackets was cheered wildly by 5,000 actors and actresses crowded into Hollywood Legion stadium in a mass meeting.

Just before the announcement was made it was revealed that the Guild members had voted almost 100 percent to strike immediately if their demands were not met.

Meeting under Guild president Robert Montgomery, the actors and actresses gathered to decide if they should join the walkout called by ten craft unions of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts.

Emotions valued at thousands of dollars before the cameras were registered free when Montgomery stood and announced the producers agreement.

Seated with him above the prize fight ring which was used for a rostrum were Vice President James Cagney and directors Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone, Edward Arnold, Warren William, Ralph Morgan, Robert Young, Lucille Gleason and Jean Hersholt.

Hundreds Of Fans Line Streets

Hundreds of fans lined the streets outside the stadium as the stars gathered, but no glitterng kleig lights or radio microphones usually evident at Hollywood personal appearances, greeted the celebrities.

Adolphe Menjou with his wife, Verree Teasdale, Herbert Marshall, Buddy Ebson, Walter Winchell and a host of others paraded in, solemn faced and business bent.

Montgomery announced:

"Since last Sunday the board had been in almost continuous session," he said. "Often we have worked until 3 a.m. We have an agreement with producers, but it has not yet been committed to full contract. This was made possible only because the senior membership of the Guild has backed us 99 percent and the junior membership has given its full support."

Then Secretary Kenneth Thompson read a statement from Producer Joseph Schenck in which it was announced that all the studios contacted so far had agreed to recognize the Guild demands.

For the first time in its history Hollywood yesterday saw its principal theatres picketed as parades of strikers gathered before the doors of all major houses.

Lessing said similar action would be taken in other cities in the United States.

The World At A Glance

more suffering than would a general war.

"Taxation which would take rent for public uses would precent all this..."

SINGLE TAX

Thus we come to the famous single tax theory.

It is misunderstood.

Henry George explained:

"I do not propose either to purchase or to confiscate private property in land. The first would be unjust; the second, needless ...

"It is not necessary to confiscate land; it is only necessary to confiscate rent ...

"We already take some rent in taxation. We have only to make some changes in our modes of taxation to take it all.

"What I, therefore, propose as the simple yet sovereign remedy, which will raise wages, increase the earnings of capital, extirpate pauperiem, abolish poverty, give remunerative employment to whoever wishes it, afford free scope to human powers, lesson crime, elevate morals, and taste, and intelligence, purify government and carry civilization to yet nobler heights, is—to appropriate rent by taxation.

"In this way the state may become the universal landlord without calling herself so, and without assuming a single new function ... No owner of land need be dispossessed, and no restriction need be placed upon the land any one could hold. For, rent being taken by the state in taxes, land, no matter in whose name it stood, or in what parcels it was held, would be really common property, and every member of the community would participate in the advantages of its ownership.

"Now, in as much as the taxation of rent, or land values, must necessarily be increased just as we abolish other taxes, we may put the proposition into practical form by proposing—to abolish all taxation except that upon land values."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

advisable to recommend the development of electric power in connection with any project under its jurisdiction, it may submit such recommendations to the Congress for approval."

This paragraph will be strenuously opposed by public ownership advocates who wish the act to permit each authority to produce power without having to secure special congressional authorization.

Everyone should understand by this time that navigation and flood control are the least of the aims of the proponents of such Bills as this. Their real purpose, which they veil with subterfuge, is socialization of the power industry and government ownership. The current Bill is simply one of many persistent attempts to attain that end.

What this means to the taxpayer—to say nothing of the utility investor whose savings may be destroyed if tax-subsidized, Federally-financed "corporations" move in on tax-paying private industries—should be obvious. Staes and municipalities will also face serious problems as giant "tax exempt" government corporations remove private taxable assets from municipal and state tax rolls.

Hints On Etiquette

... bride-to-be must make personal calls to request her intimate friends to serve as bridesmaids.

The new tax schedule will take 75 per cent of the Englishman's profits. Think of England being only 25 per cent short of Socialism.

"Jazz Has Place," Rotarians' Guest Says Upon Arrival

Douglas Malloch To Be Speaker At Tonight's Party Of New Castle Club

Douglas Malloch, poet, author of "Come on Home" and a half a dozen other books, is not one of those who dismiss jazz with a wave of the hand. He made that very plain very shortly after his arrival today to speak at tonight's Ladies' Night party of the Rotary club at the Castleton. Mrs. Malloch came with him.

"Jazz has a very definite place in American life," the poet said in a short interview which turned on that subject. Then he smiled "It is for those who cannot think. We must have emotions, for the only time that we ever really live is in the moment of our emotions. If we don't have them in the heart and mind, I don't know but that it is better to have them in the stomach and feet than not at all. We must have emotions, even though the only thing that will rouse them in us is the tom-tom.

"I think perhaps that the difference between music and jazz is this: that harmony plays on the mind, melody on the heart, and jazz on the nerves. Music elevates us, jazz excites us. Each creates some sort of an emotion, and, if we haven't a mind for harmony or a heart for melody, then perhaps it is well that we have a stomach for jazz. And, perhaps, better emotions aroused by the tom-tom than no emotions at all."

Rotary did not meet at noon today because of tonight's program.

Catherine Von Bora Missionary Society of St. John's Lutheran church will meet Tuesday night at the home of Miss Lena Richards, 313 Winter avenue, with Mrs. Raymond Gilbert as associate hostess and Mrs. Harold Gray as leader of devotions.

Martha Washington Lodge

Martha Washington Lodge No. 24 will have a regular meeting Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Knights of Malta Hall, East Washington St. This will be the first meeting in the new location. Previously the organization met in the Clendenin building.

Section B. Y. L. B.

Section B, Y. L. B. class of the Third U. P. church, held a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Edward McKibbin, Winslow avenue, with 15 members present. Devotionals were led by Mrs. Anna McClure, who was also in charge of the business session.

Bingo playing was the main diversion of the evening, and prizes went to Mrs. McClure and to Mrs. Eleanor Dufford.

Lunch was later served by the hostess, aided by her daughter, Helen.

Council Approves Legislative Bill

Senator William G. Eroe and Representative Carmi Preston will some time today receive a telegram from Mayor Charles E. McGrath and councilmanic colleagues which will state that the council is in favor of the Perry measure, house bill 896 and which is favored by the League of Cities of the Third Class.

According to Walter Greenwood, president of the league, writing from Coatesville, enactment of the bill into law will result in a very substantial decrease in the tax required to be levied by municipalities.

The bill provides for contributions from the motor license fund to all of the cities on the basis of street mileage and population.

To demonstrate their solidarity on the bill there will be a mass meeting of third class city officials in Harrisburg May 12.

Probe Death Of Seven In Crash

(International News Service)

CHATTAHOOCHE, Fla., May 10—Authorities continued an exhaustive investigation into a collision between a truck and a school bus near here Sunday which killed 7 high school boys. Several others were hurt.

The victims were members of the Greensboro Club of future farmers of America and were enroute to their homes from a club convention.

BALDWIN NAMED TO CAMP STAFF

'Y' Announces He Will Head Religious Work; Winter Also Chosen

Frank L. Baldwin, popular New Castle youth now completing his course at a New York seminary, will again serve as director of religious activities at Camp Fred L. Rentz of the Y. M. C. A. this summer. General Secretary R. L. Meermans announced today. The camp season opens July 6.

Baldwin is by no means a newcomer to Camp Rentz, for he has served as counselor and religious activities director for six seasons His association with the "Y" camp as a camper, a boys' leader, a counselor and religious director has extended over 15 summers. He graduates from the New York seminary next winter.

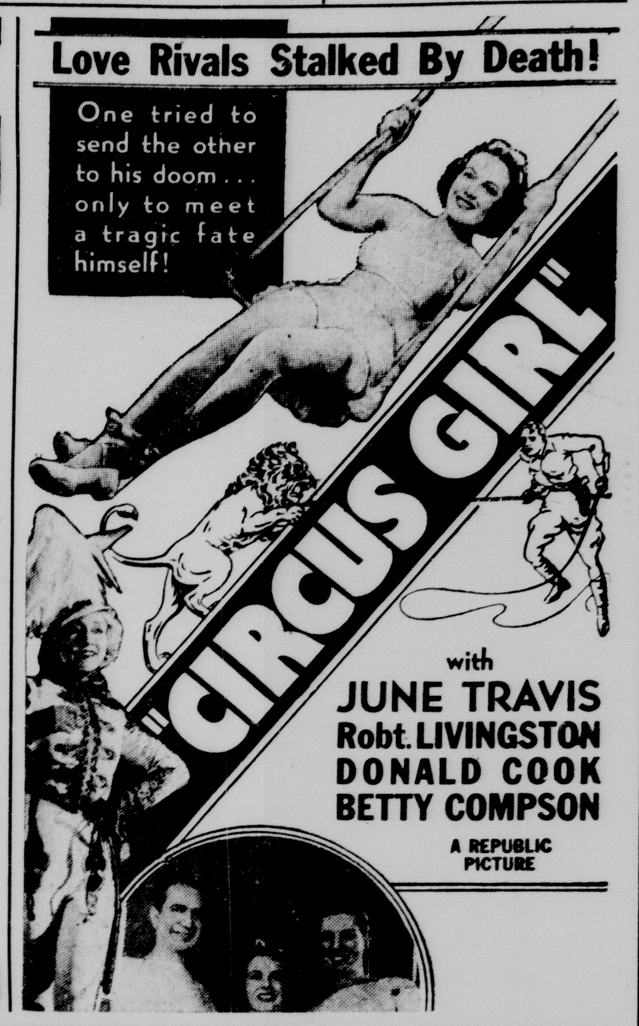

Mr. Meermans also announced that William "Butch" Winter, present member of the "Y" staff, will serve as director of physical activities this year. Winter is also well known.

Appointment of six other counselors will follow shortly.

When a writer says people quit religion when they become mentally mature, he means "mentally mature like me."

Correct this sentence: "I am hurt when snubbed by those above me," said the man. "So I never snub those below me."

Caruso Drew Cartoons Too

McIntyre Recalls Time Famous Singer Drew His Face On Menu Card

WAS DRAWING CARD OF OPERA

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 10.—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal: At a country establishment where I just spent the night, the bedroom all black with white drapes, the bath towel racks heated. Dandy idea that on a morning. Also a bath chair with rubber covering. And a fresh bar of soap with the guest's monogram.

O. O. McIntyre

Our cook fashions a floating island for dessert that is a velvety ambrosia a little short of heavenly. Aside from the Algonquin I know of no public restaurant featuring this dish. Yet I have never known a man or woman who did not enjoy it immensely when well made.

We were gabbing at breakfast about what was the matter with the world. M. recalled an old cowboy saying that made me thoughtful. He was asked by one of a flock of city visitors over-running the place what he desired most in life. He replied: "To be let alone—and plenty of it."

Charlie Driscoll, fulfilling a midwest lecture engagement, is stopping off in Gallipolis for a few hours. It will be a great experience to see the town through his eyes. He has the keenest capacity for detail of anyone I know. In a few hours he will see more than many in weeks.

My methods of flattery must be obvious and awkward. When I want to have my own way about something that may disturb the household—such as taking on a couple of extra dogs—I indulge a bit of what grandma called "honey fuggling". I was spreading the oil as a prelude to a request when M. archly inquired: "Why all these red apples for teacher?" Over toppled the entire cart.

Down on the lower East Side when I first came to town was a vast pudding house called Little Hungary. Featuring a long haired violinist who brought soulful ladies to his shrine. At each table were four spigots tapping as many bottles of various wines. The wine was inexhaustible and free with the dollar table d'hote. One evening there someone sent a torn menu end to my table with a caricature of myself —the best I ever saw and about the best other artists agree they ever saw of anyone. It was done with those few darting strokes that characterize Frueh. Later in the evening I tried to thank the artist but the waiter said "The party has gone —it was Signor Caruso." Years later I recalled the incident to the singer and he remembered, saying my face lent itself to caricature. He promised to autograph it, but before I could get around to seeing him again he was no more of this world.

The value of Caruso to the Metropolitan was colossal. He was himself a mighty human drama, magnificently performed. Thousands went to see him just as a part of the current curiosa and who had only a passive interest in his golden voice. Opera today, I believe, could be put back on its feet by the discovery of another Caruso. To see him swing out of the Hotel Knickerbocker for the avenue 5 o'clock parade, his green hat with feather cock-a-hoop, his amber-handled cane over his shoulder, military fashion, was a patina of pomp few European grand marshals achieve.

My antipathy grows for people who barter dogs to win championships at kennel shows. A few may be genuine dog lovers but the majority are commercial. And there are many dog shops and veterinarian establishments that should be prosecuted. Few of my baseball thrills excel that of the exhibition pitchers' battle between young Bob Feller and Carl Hubbell the other Sunday. And Lyn Lary, discarded by a New York club, knocking a four-bagger also furnished an extra pulse skip. Seeing this game has ended seven sabbatical years at the ball park. Oh, well, a season pass may have something to do with it, too.

It is interesting to talk to Sherman Billingsley, youngest, most successful and frankest of the night club nabobs. He admits there is a wide margin of profit in his business and that is why he seldom refuses to cash a patron's check, providing it is not too big. He believes the slight losses are far over-balanced by the goodwill. Refusing to cash an honest man's check when he is having a night out will end his patronage. Billingsley loathes dance orchestras yet must suffer them. But he has planned an escape. He is cutting through to a room adjoining where food and drinks will be served without music. He expects to spend most of his time there. I was struck almost inarticulate while talking with Billingsley by a passing fellow so much like the late Karl Kitchen, save fgor a crop of hair, that it might have been his twin. He was the crack advertising man, Art Kudner. What a loss the shy yet enormously wordly Kitchen and his fine companionship have been to so many of us! Often we wonder if there isn't great truth in Irvin Cobb's jet of philosophy over the loss of a dear friend: "The trouble with most of us is—we live too long."

JR. C. OF C. TO ELECT

New officers for the coming year will be elected when members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce gather at The Castleton tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Court Issues Order For New Precincts In Several Wards

Orders for the redistricting of numerous precincts in the City of New Castle were handed down today by Judges James A. Chambers and W. Walter Braham.

The orders had been anticipated and the work of redictricting had been made, subject to the approval of the court.

This time the work was done by Chief Clerk Thomas C. Edmunds and County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr. Ordinarily a board is appointed to make the changes and the cost to the county is considerable. The only cost this time was for a few pencils and some paper.

The geographical boundaries of the precincts in the wards concerned are carried here in brief form. These descriptions do not go into the detail in the formal order, but will give you some idea of what precinct you will vote in at the next election.

First Ward

The First ward now has four precincts. The first precinct is bounded on the north by North street, on the east by Mercer street, on the south by Neshannock avenue and on the west by the Shenango river.

The second precinct is bounded on the east by North Mercer street, on the south by North street and the Shenango river, on the west by the Shenango river, on the north by a line from a point at the Shenango river and Grant street east to Shenango and north to Lincoln avenue.

The third precinct is bounded on the west by the Shenango river, north by Laurel avenue, east by North Mercer street and south by a line starting at Lincoln and North Mercer street, thence to Shenango street.

The fourth precinct is bounded on the north by the city line, east by North Mercer street, south by Laurel avenue and north by the Shenango river.

Third Ward

The Third ward now has six precincts. The first precinct is bounded on the northwest by the Neshannock creek, north by a line from the intersection of Croton and Walnut streets to the Neshannock river, east by Walnut street and southeast by Washington street.

The second precinct is bounded on the north by an alley north of Lot 49, Section 36, and Rock avenue, on the east by Mulberry street, south by Court street and west by Walnut street.

The third precinct is bounded on the north by Court street, on the east by a line from the intersection of Vine and Court street, thence to County Line street, to a point at the north intersection of Oak street. South by north line of Fourth ward, Oak street northwest to Washington street to Walnut street, on the west by Walnut street.

The fourth precinct is bounded on the north by Croton avenue, east by Vine street, south and west by a line from Court and Vine to Mulberry street to Rock avenue, to Walnut street and to Croton avenue.

The sixth precinct is bounded on the north by the Nashannock creek east by the city line, south by north line of Fourth ward, west by city line at Oak street, thence by an alley to County Line street, to Vine street, to intersection of Croton avenue and thence to Cascade street and the Neshannock river.

The fifth precinct is bounded on the north and west by the Neshannock creek, east by Cascade street and south by Croton avenue.

Fourth Ward

The Fourth ward now has eight precincts. The first precinct is bounded on the northwest by the Neshannock creek, northeast by East Washington street, southeast by Union street, south by Taylor street and west by South Mill street.

The second precinct is bounded on the north by Oak street, east by city line, southwest by line along Ray street to East Washington street to Oak street.

The third precinct is bounded on the northeast by Washington street, south by a point at intersection of Junior High and East Washington street, on the south by Junior High and East Washington streets, southwest and west to DuShane street to Lutton street to Cunningham to Division to South Mill street, north and northwest, South Mill street to Taylor, to Union street to East Washington street.

The fourth precinct is bounded on the north and northeast by Butler avenue, southeast by Winslow avenue, southwest by East Washington street, west by Ray street.

The fifth precinct is bounded on the north by Cunningham and Lutton streets, on Lutton to DuShane, to Junior High and East Washington streets, on the east by Junior High and East Washington streets to Lutton to Williams to Arlington avenue. On the south by Arlington avenue, on the west by Cunningham avenue.

The sixth precinct is bounded on the west by Winslow avenue, northeast by Butler avenue, southeast by Adams street and southwest by East Washington street.

The seventh precinct is bounded on the northeast by East Washington street, on the south by Arlington avenue, west by Williams street and north and northwest by Lutton street.

The eighth precinct is bounded on the northwest by Adams street, north by Butler avenue, east by the city line and south by the city line.

Fifth Ward

The Fifth ward now has four precincts. The first is bounded on the west by South Mill street, north by Division street, east by Cunningham avenue, south by line starting at Bleakley and Cunningham, thence to Clearview avenue, to Phillips, to South Mill street.

The second precinct is bounded on the east by Cunningham avenue, south by a line from Cunningham and Waldo streets, thence to Hamilton, to Lyndal, to Pennsylvania avenues. West by a line from Lyndal and Pennsylvania to Long avenue, to South Mill street, to Phillips street.

The third precinct is bounded on the east by a prolongation of Cunningham avenue, south by the city line, west by Pennsylvania avenue and north by a line from Pennsylvania and Lyndal to Hamilton, to Waldo streets.

The fourth precinct is bounded on the north by Arlington avenue, northeast by Washington street, south by the city line and west by the center line of Cunningham avenue.

Eighth Ward

The Eighth ward now has three precincts. The first is bounded on the north by the Neshannock creek, on the east by South Mill street, south and west by a line from South Mill and Phillips to South Mercer, to the New Castle Hospital, thence by an alley to South Jefferson street, to Sciota street, to Moravia street to Shenango river and the confluence of the Shenango and the Neshannock.

The second precinct is bounded on the north by a line from South Mill and Phillips to South Mercer, to the New Castle Hospital, by an alley to South Jefferson street, to Sciota street, by an alley to the Shenango river. West by the Shenango river, south by the Big Run, east by Lyndal and Pennsylvania avenue to Long avenue, to South Mill to Phillips street.

The third precinct is bounded on the north by Big Run, west by Shenango river, south by city line and east by Pennsylvania avenue to Lyndal street.

Seek To Rescue Trapped Miner

Young Man Trapped In "Bootleg" Mine Under 25 Feet Of Debris

RESCUE SQUADS WORK FEVERISHLY

(International News Service)

TAMAQUA, Pa., May 10.—Caught beneath a rush of earth and coal as timberings collapsed, 26-year-old William Hofler of Tamaqua, married, was trapped today in a "bootleg" coal hole on a mountain about a mile west of here.

Hofler was working about 40 feet beneath the surface when the fall came, entombing him beneath tons of earth and coal. Rescuers, who began the laborious task of attempting to reach him, said he appeared to be buried by about 25 feet of debris. They expressed little hope of finding him alive, since there appeared to be no side workings going out from the shaft.

Hofler and George Bachert, 23, also of Tamaqua, were working the "bootleg" operation when the accident occurred. Bachert said Hofler called to him to hoist him to the surface when the rumblings of the slide were heard. Bachert said he started to work the windless of the make-shift operation in an effort to haul his partner to the surface but the rope appeared to catch on something.

Rescuers Work Feverishly.

The cries of his fellow workers were muffled beneath the tons of coal and dirt. Bachert had been working at the top of the improvised mine, one of the many such operations in this region. He was lifting coal to the surface.

The cave-in occurred about a quarter of a mile from the spot where recently Anthony Vinscavage of Tamaqua, another "bootleg" coal miner, was trapped. Vinscavage was rescued alive after more than 27 hours of entombment.

Working in shifts, the rescue workers timbered the shaft as they worker toward Hofler's underground cell. It was believed it would be nightfall before they could get into the section. Although the first part of rescue work progressed rapidly, it was feared they may strike rock further down, necessitating the sinking of a new shaft from another direction. Several hundred persons gathered about the mine to witness the progress of the rescue attempts.

STUDENTS REMEMBER THEIR PRINCIPAL ON MOTHER'S DAY

SEE PCSSIBILITY OF STEEL STRIKE IN SOME PLANTS

following the signing of union contracts with United States Steel corporation subsidiaries.

Negotiations Broken Off.

Those with Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Republic Steel were broken off over the week-end, however, when the two refused to sign a contract, contending there was no need for it under the Wagner act.

Anoth r and crucial meeting is scheduled for Wednesday with Jones & Laughlin between Murray and H. L. Lewis, chairman of the corporation board.

Further complicating the situation at the Jones & Laughlin plants was the formation there by 600 employes over the week-end of an independent employes organization, the United Iron and Steel Workers Union, to be separate of both the CIO and A. F. of L.

An SWOC official, following its organization, charged J. & L. officials were purposely delaying negotiations in an effort to revive their "company union."

File Complaint.

On Saturday SWOC officials filed a complaint with the National Labor Relations board charging the Weirton Steel company with violation of the Wagner act, alleging maintenance of a company union and dismissal of its men for union activities. The complaint further charged the company with employing "thugs" to attack union organizers.

The complaint asked reinstatement of 160 men allegedly dismissed for union activities with back pay totaling $180,000.

Similar actions charging violation of the Wagner act thru maintenance of company unions are pending against the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and the Republic Steel Corp.

Strike Vote.

The J. & L. strike vote was adopted at emergency meetings called yesterday by local 1272 at Pittsburgh and 1211 at Aliquippa.

Local officials were instructed by resolutions to confer with SWOC officials at once and determine the status of negotiations which have been inaugurated. Under no consideration, the resolutions specified, was the strike order to be held up after Wednesday evening.

The Pittsburgh meeting was presided over by George Walcroft, president of the local. An overflow gathering of 3,000 attended. The attendance was estimated at 4,500, a record, according to Paul Normile, president of the local.

F. P. Hannaway, a sub-regional director of the SWOC, accused SWOC officials of laxity in permitting formation of an independent union while negotiations were in progress. He charged the steel company with purposely delaying negotiations in an attempt to revive the old employe representation plan under another name.

SWOC officials claimed 25,000 of the 30,000 J. & L. employes were members of their organization.

Neither company officials nor SWOC leaders would comment on the J. & L. situation.

Meetings of the two locals were called for Wednesday morning and evening to select maintenance crews to man the plants during a strike.

"This is showdown week," an SWOC official commented significantly.

TWO THOUSAND ATTEND NAZARENE SUNDAY SESSION

School Board, in charge. Eastern Nazarene College quartet sang, "I Want My Life To Tell." Addresses on Sunday school work were made by Rev. W. W. Hess, of First church, Cleveland, O., and Dr. S. S. White, of Boston, Mass.

At 10:30 a worship period was conducted in charge of the retiring district superintendent. Singing was led by Rev. A. W. Gould, of Ashtabula and included numbers by the E. N. C. quartet and John Mackey.

Rev. G. B. Williamson, president of Eastern Nazarene College, spoke briefly and Dr. Chapman then brought the main address, on "The Qualities of Sainthood," in which he stated that they are: boldness as exemplified by the lion, patience and perseverance illustrated by the ox, vision like the eagle and intelligence to plan for eternity. Dr. S. S. White, gave the benediction.

At 2 p. m. Sunday Mrs. Dell Aycock led the singing, Rev. G. H. Keeler, outgoing missionary, spoke on the Cape Verde Islands, the E. N. C. quartet sang special numbers, Rev. and Mrs. Jarrette Aycock sang "Lift Jesus Up" Rev. Arthur Savage gave a brief but thrilling missionary appeal (he is under appointment to Africa.) Rev. A. H. Kauffman, missionary to Palestine, gave a short message, and three babies were baptised and dedicated by Dr. Chapman who later brought the concluding missionary address.

Then, at 6 p. m. the last service of the convention, Rev. Aycock had for the subject of his closing address, "Salvation Neglected Is Dangerous."

Young People's Rally

Twelve Hundred people attended the Young People's Rally on Saturday afternoon. The program included: song service led by Mrs. Aycock, prayer by Rev. G. B. Williamson, of Wollaston, Mass., general president of the Nazarene Young People's Society, Rev. Ernest March, of Ellet, O., district president, presided, Miss Edith Beach of Akron gave a reading, the Younce brothers, and a young men's quartet from Akron sang, Rev. Arthur Savage and Rev. G. H. Keeler both told of their call to the mission field. Rev. A. H. Kauffman spoke of Palestine and Jerusalem, the Eastern Nazarene College quartet song, "'Tis a Great-Religion," and Rev. Aycock spoke on "The Devil."

Saturday night another fine service was conducted. Rev. Aycock had for his sermon theme, "The Home Over There."

Band Concert Is Postponed Again

Inclement weather resulted in a second postponement of an outdoor "Mother's Day" concert which was scheduled for Sunday afternoon, in the lawn of the D. M. Ritchie home, corner East Reynolds and South Mill street.

Director Anthony Bastile stated today that the concert will be presented within the next few evenings.

Americans won't tolerate Fascism, either. After it gets well started, they'll find another name for it.

Y. P. C. U. Leaders Are Chosen Here

Convention At Third U. P. Elects Presbyterial Officers For Year

MISS M'CONNELL NAMED PRESIDENT

Miss Edna McConnell of New Behlehem, Clarion county, today is the new president of the Beaver valley presbyterial executive committee of the Young People's Christian Union, youth organization of the United Presbyterian church, for the coming year.

She was chosen for the high office when delegates from the presbytery's churches gathered Saturday at the Third U. P. church, East Washington and Adams street, for an afternoon- evening convention.

Elected with Miss McConnell, who succeeds Rudolph Hoffman of New Brighton, president for the past several years, were Clyde Byers, Ambridge, as vice president; Miss Margaret Battersby, Ellwood City, secretary; Henry L. Millison, New Castle, treasurer, and Miss Bertha Burrows, Ellwood City, superintendent of Intermediate Y. P. C. U. work.

The convention, held twice yearly, attracted large delegations of Y. P. C. U. members. The Third church young people were hosts.

At the afternoon session the Rev. Clyde L. Myers, pastor of the Greentree U. P. church, a Pittsburgh suburban congregation, delivered the principal address on "Bing a Good Soldier for Christ". The evening's main speaker was the Rev. J. Cal Reid, pastor of the First U. P. church of Butler. All the messages carried the theme of the convention, "Youth—the Keeper of the Flame".

Installation of the new officers was a feature of the night program.

Close to 250 persons attended the evening banquet, another convention highlight. At the dinner the Rev. Ray G. Woodburn, Mt. Jackson U. P. pastor and secretary of young people's work for the Beaver Valley Presbytery, was the able toastmaster.

Rev. Woodburn and the new officers, it was announced today, will announce the full roster of presbyterial committee secretaries in June.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Waggoner

Sister Finds Orbin M. Waggoner Dead In Home Sunday Afternoon

Orbin M. Waggoner, aged 58, of 317 Vine street, was found dead in the kitchen of his home about 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, by his sister, Mrs. James L. Cox, of Woodland avenue. Heart trouble, with which he had suffered for the past three years was the cause of death, Coroner Orville Potter stated.

Mr. Waggoner had lived alone in the old homestead on Vine street, since the death of his mother, and had not been in the best of health, his sister stated. When he did not show up at her home for dinner Sunday, she called him on the phone, and failing to get an answer, went to the home where she found him lying on the floor of the kitchen. Death is believed to have occurred during the morning.

Mr. Waggoner had been an employe of the Lehigh Portland Cement company for a number of years. He was a member of the Croton Avenue M. E. church.

He leaves one sister, Mrs. Cox and one brother, John D. Waggoner also of this city.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the residence, with the Croton Avenue M. E. pastor, Rev. C. H. Hauger in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Missing Co-Ed Believed Seen In Detroit, Mich.

Detroit Policeman Believes That Missing Ruth Baumgardner Was In Restaurant

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 10.—A girl believed to be Ruth Baumgardner, 22-year-old Ohio Wesleyan University co-ed missing since Tuesday, was sought here today after a police officer reported he saw her in a restaurant.

Sergeant Harvey Ferris said he saw a girl answering her description eating with a man in the restaurant.

"I talked with the man," Ferris said, "and he told me he was employed by a motion picture company and was on his way to Los Angeles by way of Kansas City. He was driving a new coupe.

"Later I saw the picture of the missing girl in the paper and recognized her as the girl I had seen in the restaurant."

The co-ed vanished from her dormitory room Tuesday night.

MRS. REESE GETS REMARKABLE RESULTS BY TAKING VENDOL

Is Astounded At Wonderful Relief From Constipation, Fiery, Upset Stomach, Gas And Pains.

"I can eat fried food or anything I want now," said Mrs. Catherine Reese of 652 Marshall St., Youngstown, in talking to the Vendol Man who is now at the New Castle Drug Co. and is daily meeting crowds of people, explaining all about this great medicine which is a combination of roots and herbs with valuable alkalines, making it a real double-acting remedy.

"I have suffered for years from constipation and that seems to have undermined my health. I didn't have much of an appetite and what little I did eat would give me distress—indigestion, heartburn, shortness of breath, fiery, acid risings, sourness, nausea and sometimes cramps. I got very nervous and lost a lot of sleep. Then, too, I had severe headaches at times.

"I read what people here at home were saying about Vendol helping them so quickly over these same troubles, so I made up my mind I'd give it a trial, and that surely was my lucky day! It gave me a big surprise, for it is so mild and smooth, and yet so very effective. I have no trouble in eating a good meal—now—just about anything that I want from fried foods on down—and no distress afterward. I'm not nervous anymore, and I sleep like a healthy child and when I get up in the morning I feel rested and full of pep and vigor. I've gained some good solid, healthy flesh. My elemination is natural and regular, and I feel so much better in every way I can't say enough in praise of Vendol."

MRS. CATHERINE REESE

Vendol contains 12 roots and herbs mixed with valuable Alkalines so it is like taking several different medicines in one and accomplishes several things at the same time. For instance, it acts on the bowels as a laxative and helps clear out old, foul substances that often cause headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions, pimples, boils and that worn-out feeling. It brings forth gas from the stomach, relieves gas pains, swelling and gas misery around the heart. The mild action of Vendol on the kidneys relieves too frequent action, night rising, and backache. In other words, due to the wonderful combination of ingredients, Vendol gives relief from many different symptoms all at the same time and weak, miserable people daily tell how they get such a cleansing and invigorating effect from Vendol, they soon feel like different men and women.

Vendo' is sold by all leading druggists and the Vendol Man is now at New Castle Drug Co., 31 E. Washington St. to explain all about this wonderful medicine, so come hear how it will help you too. The New Castle Drug Co. at 24 N. Mill St. has Vendol at all times.

HE WAS HEADING FOR "HOME SWEET HOME" WHEN BANG! A BLOW-OUT!

Read TED HUSING'S Account of a Chicago Motorist's Terror-Crowded Experience

TED HUSING
Noted Sports Announcer and Commentator

Traffic was heavy that hot Summer afternoon as Mr. E. P. Keenan of Chicago, returning from a business trip, sped along Waukegan Road. His passenger did most of the talking. Mr. Keenan was too busy keeping one eye glued on the oncoming traffic in the other lane.

"We're making pretty good time," Keenan's pal said. He couldn't reach "Home Sweet Home" quickly enough.

A Close Shave

Bang! Like a thunderbolt the staccato crack of a blow-out rose above the roar of the motor. In desperation Mr. Keenan gave the steering wheel one final, frenzied tug. The car bolted—lurched to the right, missing a moving van by inches—and came to a stop at the brink of a deep ditch.

It took Goodrich engineers to fight this blow-out hazard for American motorists and provide them with a real defense against high-speed blow-outs like this. They invented the now famous Life-Saver Golden Ply which is found only in Goodrich Silvertown Tires. This remarkable Golden Ply is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds.

Are Your Tires Safe?

You can bet your bottom dollar that Mr. E. P. Keenan of Chicago is now riding on Silvertowns. Because for safer motoring he's convinced that there are no safer tires than Goodrich Silvertowns. See these life-saving tires that will give you months of extra, trouble-free mileage. The sooner the safer.

Congressional Probes Hated

Inquiries Are Distasteful But They Reveal Facts On Many Subjects

ARE FOUGHT BY CONSERVATIVES

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Conservative critics find a deal of fault with congressional investigations.

Most of them are dominated by liberal inquisitors—or even downright radicals, according to conservative folk. That, doubtless, is why the conservatives resent them so bitterly.

It stands to reason that liberals generally start them. The conservatives are satisfied with things as they are. They cannot understand why what they consider o. k. already should be "put on the pan." One HAS to be a liberal to suspect that whatever IS may not be right.

"VENTILATION" NEEDED

The conservative contention, however, is that a liberal, urging an investigation, simply is trying to publicize himself.

Perhaps that does figure in his calculations.

But what of it? Having launched an inquiry, he must make out a good case, or he won't get his desired publicity. And if he does make out a good case, it would appear that the conditions he wanted to ventilate NEEDED ventilation, regardless of the motive in the back of his head.

EXTRA-LEGAL METHODS?

Adverse critics also contend that congressional investigators are overbearing and extra-legal in their methods; that they bully witnesses, resorting to tactics that no court of law would tolerate.

Well, this is more or less true, too.

Illustratively, young Senator Robert M. La Follette has been pretty much the "whole thing" in connection with his civil liberties "probe," especially into the state of affairs in Harlan county, Kentucky.

BUT FACTS ARE THERE

Now "young Bob" unquestionably has PROSECUTED that Harlan county case against the coal owners (some of them, anyway), and the local administrators of so-called order and justice.

Nor have the defendants been permitted to say anything on their own side, as they would in an ordinary court—for "young Bob" has been JUDGE as well as prosecutor. He has been jury, likewise, in convicting that county of permitting the existence of a system that no outsider would have believed possible in any community in the United States.

This could not have occurred before a formal court, and it makes conservatives sore. They have to agree that it is awful, but they fight the irregularity of the revelations.

KILLING NO EXAGGERATION

Kentucky representatives assert, indeed, that the Harlan county story is exaggerated, but it is hard to show that an actual killing is an exaggeration.

Yes, admits the defense, but there have been killings on both sides.

Yet, even while the La Follette hearings were in progress, terrorism against union men was resumed—or continued. At least one union man was killed, it was testified.

It almost seems like a federal situation. No protection seemingly is given by state or county.

THEN—RAIL JUGGLING

Senator Burton K. Wheeler's investigation of the railroads is more technical.

It hits the "empire" of the late Van Sweringen brothers.

With a couple of million dollars, here's a property (railroads and whoever knows what all), worth the control of which is worth three billions, transferred by one Ball (Muncie, Ind., fruit jar manufacturer) to a couple of unknown stock brokers and the son of a Woolworth partner to juggle with. Ball's paper profit was $10,000,000.

The Wheeler committee is up against another fancy problem in accountancy.

It is another venture, the senator tells me, into near-infinity.

ULTIMATELY CONSTRUCTIVE

I've seen a lot of these investigations—

Oil, under the late Senator Walsh; electoral honesty, under former Senator James A. Reed; banking and currency, under Ferdinand Pecora; plenty of kinds under the late Senator Thaddeus Caraway; neutrality under Senator Nye—et cetera.

However irritating they may have been to conservatism, all have been informative—and ultimately constructive.

County Sabbath School Convention Occurs On June 10

Sessions To Take Place In Third U. P. Church—Strong Program Is Outlined

Program for the 99th convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, which is to be held at the Third U. P. church, New Castle, Thursday June 10, will have a program of unusual interest touching up the various phases of Sunday school activities and especially stressing Children's Division work as well as Leadership training in the individual Sunday Schools so as to have more efficient and consecrated teaching.

The specialist who is being sent by the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association as their representative is Mrs. Archie J. Holman, of Pittsburgh, who is an outstanding leader in Children's work and who has served many county conventions in different parts of the state. She will have some unique and effective suggestions to make to the workers with children in Lawrence County.

It has been said that in some Sunday schools the pastor preaches or teaches one thing and the various teachers present, in some cases, something entirely different. One of the ministers, who has most successfully met the problem of teacher education is Rev. Fred H. Willkins, pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church of Pittsburgh. Rev. Willkins comes very highly recommended and in addition to appearing on the program he will hold a conference period especially for pastors and Sunday School superintendents.

The speaker of the evening, who will also appear on the afternoon program, has many friends in New Castle, as he is a former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church of this city—Rev. Samuel C. Gamble, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church of Butler. Rev. Gamble comes highly recommended by the ministers of the city and the messages that he brings will be full of human interest and especially inspiring.

Special music under the leadership of John W. Owens, chorister of the First Baptist church, will form an effective part of the evening's session and both noon and evening meals will be served delegates by ladies of the entertaining Third United Presbyterian church.

EDENBURG

CLAWED BY CAT

Mrs. Lydia Amon of Crawford avenue had the misfortune while sitting in her home Friday to be clawed by her house cat. Mrs. Amon was eating a piece of cake and the cat wanted to get a bite and jumped up at Mrs. Amon and clawed her on the leg, bursting a vein, which bled profusely. It was necessary to call a physician, who put several stitches in the wound.

REORGANIZE W. C. T. U.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union met in the Christian church Thursday evening and elected a new set of officers as follows: President, Mrs. Ruby Hoffmaster; vice president, Mrs. Nellie Hofmeister; secretary, Mrs. Adda McCullough; treasurer, Mrs. Laura Coates.

The next meeting will be held the first Thursday in June at 8 o'clock in the evening at the home of Mrs. Ruby Hoffmaster, with Mrs. Nellie Hofmeister as leader.

MEMORIAL MEETING

F. D. Coates, president of the Edenburg Memorial association, urges all citizens of the town to meet in the Christian church on Tuesday evening, May 11, to make plans for Memorial Day.

Open Forum At Synagogue Next Wednesday Night

Uniontown Rabbi Will Speak On "New Paths For American Jewry"

The third open forum sponsored by the Jewish community of New Castle is scheduled for Wednesday evening, May 12, at the Tifereth Israel synagogue. Formerly, Rabbis Katz and Diamond addressed the group on problems of Jewish life. For this occasion, Rabbi Samuel Glasner of Temple Israel in Uniontown, Pa., will speak. He has chosen as his topic "New Paths for American Jewry".

This is the third of the forum series and the last for this year. If this meeting meets with the same enthusiastic response as the previous two, plans will be made to have at least five for the year '37-'38. It is hoped, too, to make this a regular feature in the Jewish cultural life of this city, scheduled for a fixed time each month.

The first meeting dealt with the problem "What Constitutes a Jew?" The second took up the question, "What is the greatest single problem facing Jewry today?" In both cases, not only was attendance encouraging, but also the active participation of the audience in the discussion following. Special thanks are due the Hadassah and the Council of Jewish Women for their help in popularizing this project.

FAYETTE COUNTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY ON TRIAL

To Start Trial In Pittsburgh

James A. Reilly Is Defendant On Third Degree Charge At Pittsburgh

IS ACCUSED IN UNIONTOWN CASE

By DICK SHANER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, May 10.—Paradoxically cast in the role of defendant instead of prosecutor, handsome James A. Reilly, district attorney of Fayette county, was to go on trial here today, the third man to face a jury in the celebrated Monaghan third degree" case.

He is accused of directing the questioning that culminated with the death of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotel keeper, in the Bertillon room of Fayette county courthouse last September 12. Eleven others were indicted with him, two of whom have already been tried. One was convicted of second degree murder, the other acquitted by a directed verdict.

Two Already Tried

Monaghan's death attracted statewide attention after Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti stepped into the case as a special prosecutor and charged the aged hotel man was cruelly and barbarously beaten to death by methods that were "relics of the dark ages."

First to be tried after a protracted period of sharp legal battles, some of which wound up in the state supreme court, was State Trooper Stacey Gunderman. He claimed Monaghan had attacked him while they were alone in the Bertillon room and that he flipped the 240-pound decendent over his shoulder by jiu-jitsu tricks and subdued him after a short fight. A jury refused to believe his tale and convicted him of second degree murder. He has not been sentenced yet.

Next was his superior officer and buddy, State Trooper Anthony Sanute, who was freed by Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey, specially assigned by his fellow jurists to preside at the case, after the jury deadlocked. Jury members revealed they stood at ten for guilty and two for acquittal at the time they were dismissed.

New Wilmington Girl To Graduate

Miss Evelyn L. Means Has Been Active On Slippery Rock Campus Recently

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., May 10.—Evelyn L. Means, a senior in the elementary curriculum at State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, expects to receive her B. S. degree at the commencement exercises May 25.

Since her transfer from Westminster College to Slippery Rock, Miss Means has been active in the campus affairs. She belongs to the A Capella choir and has served as librarian for the Girls' Glee club. She is also secretary for the Kindergarten-Primary club and a member of the Rifle club and the Y. W. C. A. She is a member of the Green and White basketball and hockey teams.

Miss Means is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Means, 330 New Castle street, New Wilmington.

Stomach Gas So Bad Seems To Hurt Heart

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better." —Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach; nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and stubborn constipation. Eckerd's

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

SADSBURYVILLE

Do you know that Sadsburyville, in Chester County, was originally a cluster of log huts along a road that was laid out prior to the Lancaster Turnpike?

This was one of the oldest hamlets in Western Chester county. Its original name was "Rangletown," and it was noted as such on some of the early maps of the State. About two miles west of the village is a Presbyterian church which was founded in 1720.

Of course the people aren't aware of many things that are known to great officials. That's the reason they are so quiet and orderly.

Forecast Record Number Of Spring Brides In State

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 10.—There will be more spring brides in Pennsylvania this year than ever before in the history of the commonwealth.

This prediction was forthcoming today—not from the marriage license bureaus of the state, usual source of such information—but from the Pennsylvania department of public instruction.

For, emboldened by the outwardly unromantic Mundy teachers' tenure act, recently passed by the current legislature, an estimated 5,000 public school teachers were expected to swell the ranks of blushing newlyweds. The estimate is that of a state education official.

Interpreted legally, the tenure measure prevents local boards of education from continuing the widespread policy of dismissing women instructors in the state schools for entering into holy wedlock.

May Prove Court Test

Despite the new law, school directors of Hanover township, Luzerne county, recently launched what may prove a court test of the tenure measure by approving a resolution for dismissal of all married teachers in the township. It was Hanover township's dismissal of 41 teachers—allegedly for "political reasons"—a year ago that gave impetus to the movement for the tenure act.

Not only will the newly-enacted law affect the women instructors, it was pointed out, but also motivate male teachers who had been holding back because of the insecurity of their positions.

In some communities throughout the state, local boards of education have been administering oaths to teachers to determine their status on the marriage question.

Although the oath would not deter future ceremonies, those who revealed secret marriage, it was pointed out, could be dismissed on perjury charges. Under the Mundy act, however, taking of such oaths was not compulsory.

See Rush In Pittsburgh

In Pittsburgh, officials expected the biggest marrying rush in the city's history with more than 250 elementary and high school teachers planning to take nuptial vows.

The Harrisburg district could account for approximately 20 "sure bets" but officials said there was no doubt the number would increase with the advent of summer.

Least affected district in the state was expected to be Philadelphia. It was pointed out that there was centered the bulk of teachers already married.

Introduced in the legislature by Sen. Leo C. Mundy, D. of Wilkes-Barre, the measure was backed by the administration and passed unhindered. It limits the cause of dismissal to such grounds as intemperance, cruelty, incompetency, immorality and wilful violation of the school laws.

Recently, Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti ruled that instructors dismissed 60 days prior to the passage of the tenure act were not legally discharged.

Song Writer Is Taken By Death

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 10.—Death today ended the song-writing career of John Gilroy, 65, former vaudeville actor. Gilroy, who died of a heart attack, wrote many comic songs during the past 30 years. Among them were "The Fire In The Old Marble Yard," "The More I See Of Broadway, The More I Feel It's Home," and "I'll Be Busy All Next week."

Father Of Sonja Henie Dies In California Home

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 10.—Sonja Henie, blonde, ice-skating film star, was in a state of collapse today following the death of her father, Wilhelm Henie, 65.

Henie died here from a blood clot in his lung. He had been ill for a week.

At his bedside were his wife, Selma, the daughter whom he guided to fame as a champion ice skater and then as a film star, and Tyrone Power, Jr., also a film celebrity.

He came here from Norway with his daughter and had filed first citizenship papers. Both Miss Henie and her mother were under a physician's care today.

Stamp Notes

We now have dates set for the appearance of two stamps and a souvenir sheet, but collectors are still waiting for the date of issuance for the post office booklet, "A Description of United States Stamps". Evidently much work is being encountered in revising this booklet, and preparing illustrations for the stamps. It will be, however, a great boon to the philatelic world when it is issued.

The China Clipper is now on its way home from China but the post office department has received no word as to the quantity of covers being carried on this first eastward trip.

One way of financing a flight around the world is to charge it to the stamp collectors. It is surprising to note that cover sales for the forthcoming round the world flight by Amelia Earhart have already passed the ten thousand mark. Another surprise, each cover is priced at $2.50 and $5 if autographed.

Collectors wishing covers of the five-cent Army and Navy stamps may send the usual limit of ten covers with amount of postage to the postmaster at West Point, N. Y., for the Army and the same to the postmaster at Annapolis, Md., for the Navy satmps.

It has been learned that the air-mail rate for letters carried on the ill-fated Hindenburg was 40 cents, with regular delivery after arriving in the United States. Persons having letters aboard and who wished airmail delivery in this country found it necessary to affix an extra three cents worth of postage. Many cover's addressed to collectors were undoubterly lost in the fire which destroyed the dirigible at Lakehurst, N. J.

What Is NU-ENAMEL

NU-ENAMEL is compounded under a private formula prepared after years of extensive research. Its base is an Oriental oil, a product extracted from the fruit or nuts of a tree growing in China. For centuries the ancient Chinese have used this oil with amazing results for protecting exposed surfaces. The sacred idols of the temples and other precious wood-carvings are shielded from decay, as well as boats and bridges. World famous research chemists have long attempted to use this Oriental oil as a base for enamel and paint. NU-ENAMEL succeeded, and, as a result, NU-ENAMEL possesses many distinctive features not found in ordinary enamel: (1) Can be applied over old paint. (2) One coat is all that is required. (3) Leaves no brush marks. (4) No unpleasant odors. (5) Dries quickly. (6) Makes hard, glassy finish. (7) Easily cleaned. (8) Colors remain sharp.

YOU, no doubt, have entered rooms which seemed to greet you with a cheery smile and say, "Hello, pal. Come in and sit down—rest your weary bones—laugh and be gay." You feel a little sad when you have to leave such happy surroundings.

Your family and your friends should experience this same sensation when they enter the rooms of your home.

With NU-ENAMEL you, yourself, can easily and quickly change any "just-an-ordinary room" into one all aglow with life and good-cheer. Perhaps you would like an orchid color-scheme in your own bedroom—or some other color-scheme that particularly pleases you. There are many beautiful NU-ENAMEL colors to choose from.

NU-ENAMEL can be applied over old paint—leaves no brush marks—and one coat is all that is needed. Now is the time to "cheer-up" your home with NU-ENAMEL.

APPLE TREES SHOULD BE SPRAYED BEFORE BLOSSOM TIME

A large amount of moisture, following a mild winter, has developed Apple Scab Spored and made it very imperative that trees should be well sprayed in the pre-pink or pink stage of the blossom, if a profitable crop of clean fruit is to be harvested this fall.

This spray should be applied after the buds show pink, and when a majority of the buds have separated from the clusters.

A spray at this time wi aid in controlling Apple Scab, Tent Caterpillars, Leaf Rollers and other chewing insects.

Material to be used should include lime sulphur diluted to summer strength, and three pounds of arsenate of lead to each 100 gallons of spray.

PREPARE GARDEN WELL TO GROW VEGETABLES

Garden-making time i here again.

If the garden has not been limed for four o five years, the soil may be too acid for some vegetables. An application of 80 pounds of finely ground limestone or 60 pounds of hydrated lime for 1,000 square feet is not expensive. It will correct the acidity of the soil so that any vegetable may be grown and will improve the physical condition of the soil.

Lime should be broadcast after plowing or spading and be worked in to the surface soil. If manure is used, as it is in many gardens, it should be turned under completely and the lime put on the surface.

Where manure is plowed under, an application of 20 to 30 pounds of 4-12-4 or 4-16-4 fertilizer to 1,000 square feet and worked into the surface soil will make a well-balanced plant food condition.

Where no manure is used or where a green cover crop is turned under a 4-9-4, 5-10-5, or 4-8-7 fertilizer may be used.

COWS ON PASTURE MAY NEED GRAIN AND HAY

Many Lawrence county dairymen look forward to the pasture season as a time when they can dispense with the feeding of hay and grain largely, if not wholly.

Early pasture grass is much lower in total digestible nutrients than the grass that grows later in the season. Cows first going on pasture shoul be carefully watched to see that no deficiency in feed materials occurs. This is especially important in the case of the higher producing cows.

It is a good practice to continue the feeding of hay after the cows go to pasture. This will automatically take care of any shortage in roughage requirements. Grain feeding should also be continued but in reduced amounts. It is not possible to determine exactly the amount of grain a cow should have when on pasture since there is no practical way of determining the amount of grass she has eaten.

Investigation has shown that on a good pasture a 1,000 pound cow will eat 100 pounds or more of grass a day. This amount of grass will provide amply for all requirements of a cow producing a good flow of milk. Most pastures in Lawrence county, however, do not provide grass in sufficient amounts to enable a cow to gather 100 pounds in a day. It thus becomes necessary to feed some grain in order to maintain the normal milk flow.

A common recommendation for the amount of grain to feed to cows on pasture is one pound of grain to each six or eight pounds of milk, the exact amount to be varied according to the condition of the pasture, the amount of milk produced by the cow, and the richness of the milk. The condition of the cows should be carefully observed. Where cows seem to be losing flesh more grain feed should be given. It always pays to keep good cows well supplied with feed and this rule is a profitable one to follow at all seasons of the year.

Pastures provide the cheapest feed available to dairy farmers. Studies conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture in seven dairy districts of the country showed that pastures in these areas furnished nearly one-third of the total nutrients consumed by the milk cows during the year but the cost of the pastureage was only one-seventh of the total feed cost for the year.

Dairymen of Lawrence county should pay more careful attention to their pastures. Fertilization and good management will increase the amount of feed the pasture will produce and thus aid materially in keeping costs of milk production at a lower level.

LAWRENCE COUNTY GIRLS' 4-H CLUBS ORGANIZE

Now that school days are over for a number of students, and nearly over for the rest, the girls of Lawrence county are organizing their 4-H clubs for the coming summer.

Four new clubs were organized by Miss Mary Vogle, County Home Economics Worker, with the aid of local leaders, in the particular communities during the past week. Twenty girls in Edenburg met at the home of Mrs. F. D. Usselton at which time they chose "Meal Planning and Preparation" as their club work. The next meeting will be held in the community hall on May 12 at 1:00 p. m.

A Clothing club was organized at New Wilmington, with a membership of 26. The next meeting with the group will be held Saturday afternoon, May 15, at 1:30 o'clock in the New Wilmington high school building.

The Pulaski girls have also decided on a Clothing club project for this summer. Twenty girls are enrolled in this club. Their next meeting will be on Friday, the 14th at 9:30 a. m. in the Presbyterian church.

Eight girls of the Slippery Rock community met at the home of Mrs. E. F. Forsberg to organize a Clothing club and to make arrangements for their next meeting which will be held on May 13 at 1:30 p. m.

Miss Vogle states that any girls in these communities who have not as yet been enrolled and who desire to join may do so by attending the next meeting to be held in their respective communities. Club work in other communities will be organized within the next few weeks.

COTTON CLOTHES APPEAR EVERYWHERE THESE DAYS

Cottons go practically anywhere that silk crepes can go these days and so when warm weather comes there is nothing quite so satisfactory as the frocks that take to the wash tub and emerge looking fresh, crisp and new, believe Miss Vogle. Pay enough for your new cottons and linens to guarantee them being color fast, pre-shrunk, and having the latest improvement—a permanent finish. This means they are treated to leasen their wrinkling.

The terms sanforized, bellmanized, vitalized and vat dyed refer to finishing processes. Ask your salesperson the meaning of them. Cotton garments are exposed to sunlight and repeated washings and so should be colored with dyes fast to both. Vat dyes give the most satisfactory color fastness.

For the tailored dress there are tweed-like linens and cottons, pique, everfast suiting and plain linen.

Dimities, talcum powder muslin, powder puff muslin, fine voile and dotted swiss made dainty dresses for warm afternoons. Cotton lace is more popular than ever and is a good choice for either the street-length, afternoon dress, or the evening ensemble.

For the evening dresses there are new organdies which are much more interesting than the plain organdy we have known so long and still like so much. One of these is a fine seersucker finish in a leaf design, another is a self color print—for example, a white leafy design on white organdy. A very fine voile is made from Pima cotton which is a variety of long staple cotton grown in one of the southwestern states.

Large prints on linen, as well as the plain colors, are popular for the contrasting jackets you will want, and they will be equally appropriate for the linen, wool, or silk dress, provided the color combination is pleasing.

SLIP COVERS CREATE A NEW LOOKING ROOM

Slip covers have many reasons for their popularity among homemakers, reveals Miss Mary Vogle, home economics extension representative.

They refresh and rejuvenate a room by adding new color. Besides they protect furniture from dust and strong sunlight, and with a slip cover it is possible to make old ungainly looking furniture so attractive that it looks like new.

Fabrics to choose from include printed materials like cretonne, blocked linen, crash, or chintz. Where plain colors are necessary jaspe, rep, homespun and interesting weaves, such as pique, herringbone and twill, offer a wide variety. Cool looking as well as cool feeling materials are essential for slip covers used in the summer and it is best to choose a closely woven material to keep dust from sifting through. And if they must be laundered, look for sanforized shrunk material.

Selection of slip cover material depends upon the color and design in the rug and wallpaper. The cover color should fit into the color scheme of the background of the room. With figured walls and rug a plain color is most suitable. If the walls are plain one larger piece of furniture might be covered with a designed fabric while another chair could have a plain color cover. There always should be a combination of plain and designed surfaces.

Shape and size of the piece of furniture, of course, has something to do with the selection of a cover. Striped material will have a "slimming" effect on a chair that is too big. Large pieces of furniture can use fabrics with large designs. A small chair may be covered with a material which will make it stand out and appear larger.

Slip covers find their way into other rooms beside the living room, too. Bedroom or dining room chairs may have small pads of gay material tied to the seat and back. These covers are practical as well as decorative, for they preserve the wood finish which may become dull.

Downie Presents Employment Facts

W. P. A. Rolls In Four Counties Much Smaller Than One Year Ago

In a compilation of figures released today, J. Vale Downie, director of district 14, Works Progress Administration, shows the gains made in the four counties in the first eleven months in the return to private industry.

On May 1, 1937, the combined figures for Lawrence, Butler, Beaver and Mercer counties showed 12,513 total on relief and WPA. This compared with June 3, 1936, when there was 15,904 on the rolls shows a net gain of 20 percent for the eleven months.

The gain was not uniform through out the district, however. The gain by counties shows Beaver 1678, Mercer 1140, Butler 302 and Lapwrence 271.

The number of persons actually at work as of May 1, each person representing a case in the various counties on WPA are Beaver 2678, Lawrence 3028, Mercer, 2034, Butler, 1380, total 9120. The new quota limitation established by Harrisburg as of May 1 was Beaver 2629, Lawrence 2807, Mercer 2150, Butler 1297, total 8883.

A comparison of the quota figures of those counties with men actually at work will show that at the present time Mercer is under quota by 12, Butler is over by 142, Lawrence by 370, and Beaver by 203, and that the District is over quota by a total of 715 or net 703 cases. It is expected that losses to private industry during the next 30 days will readily absorb this surplus and bring the WPA rolls down to quota.

Development Of Telephone Shown

J. C. Mott, Of Telephone Company, Gives Illustrated Talk Friday Evening

Friday evening in the Third U. P. church, J. C. Mott of the Bell Telephone company gave an educational talk and demonstration on the subject "As a Telephone System Grows".

Aided by several exhibits and samples of specially developed telephone materials and equipment, Mr. Mott pointed out that only by continuous research and invention has the Bell System been able to achieve its prime objective which, according to the speaker, is "to furnish the best service and the most at the least cost to the public".

During his talk, Mr. Mott utilized a score or more of interesting exhibits, including a section of the new "coaxial" cable, such as has been installed between Philadelphia and New York on an experimental basis. This cable permits transmission of 240 simultaneous telephone conversations over a single pair of wires each of which is enclosed in a small copper tube and the whole encased in lead sheating.

In addition to the lecture, several sound motion picture films were shown, depicting various phases of telephone service.

Plan Junior C. E. Rally On May 16

Plans For Rally Discussed At Meeting Of Lawrence County Endeavor Union

The monthly meeting of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union was held in the Central Presbyterian church Thursday evening. Gaylord Shaw, first vice president, presided. James Thompson, president of the Central group, had charge of the devotionals.

Plans were completed to hold the Junior Christian Endeavor rally in the Central Christian church, Long avenue, on the afternoon of May 16, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Miss Louise Davies, junior superintendent of the county, has arranged a fine program. Miss Anna R. Perry, school principal, will be the speaker.

Next regular meeting of the Union will be held on June 3, and plans will be made for a picnic to be held during the month of July.

Woman Convicted In Death Of Child

Mrs. Elva Sleighter Faces 10 To 20 Year Sentence For Death Of Her Ward

(International News Service)

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., May 10. Mrs. Elva Sleighter today faced a possible ten to 20 year jail term following her conviction of voluntary manslaughter in the death of her six year old ward, Jean Seville.

The woman, whose husband, Glenn, was convicted of murder with a clemency recommendation in the case, collapsed when the verdict was read. She was carried from the crowded courtroom to a local hospital.

At the husband's trial the commonwealth charged Sleighter beat the child with his belt. Mrs Sleighter testified that she slapped the child, whose body was later found on a mountain top in Bedford county.

Pirates Win From Boston To Keep Lead

Ed Brandt Turns In Fine Game As Pirates Win 6 To 3 In Boston

HUBBELL WINS 20TH STRAIGHT

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 10.—Burleigh Grimes' prediction that the new "dead" ball would make this a pitchers' year seems to be coming true. But of course the Dodger pilot wasn't thinking of the Phillies or Browns when he made his forecast.

Dizzy Dean "allowed as how Ol' Diz might win even 35 games this year the way things are going" just after he had turned in his fifth straight victory, 7-1, at the expense of the Dodgers yesterday. That lone Dodger run was only the third earned run made off the dizzy one this year and moved Grimes to remark that if he had him to go along with Van Mungo the Dodgers would surely win the pennant.

Hubbell Wins 20th.

And while Diz was doing his stuff on one side of the Brooklyn bridge, that other master of the hook and screw ball, Carl Hubbell, was turning in his fourth straight win at the expense of the Cubs on this side of the bridge, 4 to 1. Just for the record that makes 20 straight National league victories for the lean lefty—16 last season and four in a row this year.

The Pirates moved on serenely with Dutch Brandt beating his old buddies, the Bees, 6 to 3, and the Reds had a 21-10 field day at the expense of the poor Phillies. The Reds made no fewer than 24 hits, including six for six by Schnozzola Lombardi and three homers and a single by Alex Kampouris, the lone Greek of the majors.

Turning blithely to the American league, do our eyes deceive us, or is that really old Connie Mack and his Athletics jauntily perched up there in a tie for the lead with the Indians. Sure enough, it is, and by virtue of a 9-8 victory scored over the Tigers. And they made it the hard way by staging a six-run rally to win.

Indians Win.

Willis Hudlin made his seasonal debut for the Indians and let the Red Sox down with four hits, winning 3 to 1, and the Senators, with Deshong turning in a four hitter trimmed the Browns 7 to 1, and incidentally dropped them into the league basement.

And the White Sox resurrected Thornton Lee to hold the slugging Yanks to four hits, beat them 2 to 1, and drop them into fifth place. That was a tough break for Chandler Spurgeon in his big league starting debut for he held the Sox to five hits and deserved a better fate. It was the Yanks' fourth consecutive defeat.

Well, well, the A's on top and the Yanks fifth. Things are looking up and this may be an interesting race after all.

SHAFFER GIVES ST. PAUL 6 HITS

Local Hurler Pitches Masterfully To Defeat St. Paul By 7-3 Count

Taking the mound in the nightcap after his mates had dropped a 9-7 decision, Fred Shaffer, Volant, hurler, hurled masterfully to give the Louisville Colonels an even split against St. Paul, Sunday in the American Association league. The local hurler yielded but six hits, scored three runs, made two hits and fanned four of the Saints.

This was the second triumph of the season for Shaffer.

War Admiral Derby Winner

Wins Handily Over Fine Field Saturday At Churchill Downs Near Louisville

RECORD CROWD WITNESSES RACE

By DEE SPARR
International News Service Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 10.—Any fears that the turf world would have to struggle along without a 3-year-old champion this year were pretty well dispelled toda, as a result of War Admiral's smashing Kentucky Derby victory Saturday.

By any rule, measurement or standard, he is plenty of horse. He may yet be defeated in the many stakes for racers of his age that remain on the calendar, but it is going to take one whale of a horse to do it.

Once again the old adage that it takes a good horse to win the derby proved correct. Nothing but an extremely good horse could have turned back his field as easily as did the Samuel D. Riddle star in Col. Matt Winn's race of races.

War Admiral Fast

This fellow should make for some mighty interesting contests in the important 3-year-old stakes to come. Unlike the Gallant Foxes, Calvacades or Omahas, he smothers his opponents with a blinding early speed and then proceeds to run away and hide from them. The three previous winners mentioned did their running the other way—coming from behind.

It may come to pass that War Admiral will first show his wares in Chicago in the American Derby. His next important scheduled engagement is in the Preakness stakes at Pimlico. If he skips the American Derby, he may run in Chicago later in the Arlington.

War Admiral proved quite a number of things at Churchill Downs. First of all, he left no doubt of his ability to go a route—probably the longer the better, second, he knocked down the time-worn theory that any horse with the inside post position can't win the derby. Only one other horse had done it before him.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 10.—Ten players from Chicago reported fo spring football practice at University of Washington . . . who can solve the mystery of why strong young intellectuals from Chicago go so far from home in their pursuit of education, plus athletic relaxation? . . . Can it be they don't like the academic atmosphere of the Midway? . . . do they prefer the refreshing climate of the northwest? . . . or, perhaps they're used to being around football players, and fear that they'd be a little bit lonesome at Chicago . . . but maybe we're going too deeply into the matter of cause . . . perhaps they'd rather play football at Washington because they think they could make a better impression on their grandchildren by telling them they were Huskies than by confessing they were Maroons . . . you know how it is.

A bawling out, such as Dizzy Dean took from the baseball writers during the early spring in the south, occasionally has a splendi effect on the winning spirit of the athlete . . . Ol' Dizz has parked his sound attachments temporarily in the background and settled down to the business of pitching . . . Ol' Dizz is good and mad, that's what he is, and he's out to show 'em all that he's still the best pitcher in the game . . . better even than this upstart Feller . . . and when you come to examine the matter closely, who's better than Ol' Dizz when he's bearing down?

Your Cincinnati Reds have had the breaks against them so far this season, just as have the Cleveland Indians . . . but before June rolls around, look out for both of the Ohio entries . . . Cincinnati was the first ball club to pelt Carl Hubbell off that dune this year . . . and after the Indians discover that this is a major league season and not a track meet, the Tribe will be very tough.

Waite Hoyt, who has been around in a baseball uniform for 20 years, makes an interesting observation on the Pirates . . . says Waite, "The Pirates have better pitching, certainly, and one of the big reasons for that is better fielding. The defense is tighter, with Lee Handley at second base to work with Arky Vaughan, and a good pair around second base can make pitchers look better."

Lefty Gomez credits a diet of lamb chops and tomatoes for his new start in life this year . . . the Yankee fireballer says he has forsaken forever the sizzling T-bone steak and such heavy delights as potatoes . . . maybe Lefty should credit those Yankee bludgeons, too . . . Gosh, how they boom! . . . One of the better cracks of the budding season must be credited to Lefty . . . on a recent trip the Yanks had to cross part of Canada . . . at one station a conductor told El Gomez the train was passing through customs . . . "Call the customs officers," Lefty told the conductor, "I want to declare 180 pounds of dope" . . . the conductor turned a bit pale, but rallied when Lefty pointed to George Selkirk.

Dick Harlow thinks Harvard is going to be pretty hot on the grid next fall . . . It cost the Tigers 12 bucks when Gee Walker hit eight balls over the wall during batting practice at Navin field . . . Mickey Cochrane joins this department in stamping approval on John Dungan Rigney, White Sox rookie hurler . . . Jack Dempsey's favorite game is pinochle.

Hero And Goat

(International News Service)

The Hero—Alex Kampouris, who hit three homers as Cincinnati Reds beat Philadelphia, 21 to 10.

The Goat—Johnny Hudson, Brooklyn Dodger shortstop, who made two errors to contribute to St. Louis Cardinals' 7 to 1 win.

Rifle League Champions Are Given Handsome Trophy Cup

The New Castle Rifle club, champion of the Ohio-Pennsylvania Rifle league this past year, will have an important meeting and practice shoot tonight at the Cathedral range at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced by Leo W. Hill.

Following the shoot the members will have a business meeting at which time plans for the coming banquet of the club will be discussed. The banquet is tentatively set for Saturday night of this week.

Mr. Hill announced today the beautiful trophy cup emblematic of the Ohio-Penn Rifle league championship has reached New Castle and will be presented to the club at the banquet.

Masonic Golfers Meet This Evening

Organization Will Be Formed To Play During Coming Season

In the neighborhood of 200 members of the Masonic fraternity, who are interested in golf, will gather at The Cathedral this evening for a get-together, when plans for a series of matches on local courses and with surrounding cities will be outlined.

An interesting program of entertainment has been arranged, which will include a golf film, "An Excursion in Golf," produced by Grantland Rice, famous sports writer, in collaboration with Bobby Jones, presenting among other things, a slow motion analysis of the fundamentals of good golf as played by Lawson Little, Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson, Harry Cooper and others.

In addition, J. C. Mott, of the Bell Telephone Company, will show talking pictures on the development of the telephone industry, and there will be an address on "A Lawyer Looks At Golf," by George W. Muse.

The program of the evening will be concluded with a lunch.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

War Admiral won the Kentucky Derby Saturday. He won the race with convincing ease. Pompoon was second. Charlie Kurtsinger rode the winner. War Admiral is sure to go to the past a favorite in the Preakness, at Pimlico, Saturday.

German Davis cup team defeated Austria second by winning three and losing one match at Munich. Rumania bowed to Jugoslavi at Zagreb and Italy, routed Monaco at Bologna. France moved into the third round by beating Norway at Paris.

Lawrence County Sportsmen will meet Tuesday night at the city hall. The Sportsmen recently held an enjoyable banquet. It was stated several days ago by Secretary Jack Boyles that a consignment of finger length trout would be received here soon for stocking streams

City Baseball League Session Called Tonight

Contracts And Franchise Money Will Be Handed In, League To Open May 16

Managers and officials of the city baseball league will have a final meeting tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock. This will be the last session before the circuit of eight fast teams swings into action on Sunday, May 16.

All contracts and franchise money will be handed in to the league officials tonight. No team will be allowed to open the season that has not paid the required franchise money of ten dollars.

Final Meeting.

The managers can turn in as many contracts as they desire. One month after the season opens they must cut down to 18 players. There will be a merry scramble for regular berths on the various teams in the next few days. There is considerable interest in the newly organized league. The teams all are evenly balanced as to playing strength.

The following teams will compose the league and their opening games:

West Pittsburg at Mahoning A. A., E. & A. field.

Lawrence Indies at Sixth Ward Firemen, Lee avenue.

Colored Elks at K. Pulaski, Glasser field.

South Side Board of Trade at Ryantown, Ryantown field.

Titan Tennis Team Wins On Saturday

Slippery Rock Net Team Falls Before Westminster College Racquet Men

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 10.—Playing their best tennis of the season, the Westminster Titans took an easy victory from Slippery Rock Saturday afternoon at New Wilmington, 6-3, winning four of six singles and two of three doubles matches.

Elliott, Johnstown Titan, extended himself to set back Thaler, 6-2, 5-7 and 6-3; and Brinko, New Castle, was defeated by Barnes, Rocket star, 2-6 and 3-6. However, the next three matches went to the Titans, McGeoch defeating Houth, 4-6, 6-0 and 6-3; Wright defeating White 6-4 and 6-2; Brown taking an easy win from Bool 6-1 and 6-2. Maxwell, Titan number one man in the absence of little Bobby Grier, lost to the Titans for the season, lost to Denbow 1-6 and 5-7.

In the doubles matches Maxwell and Elliott, pairing for the Titans in the opening set, lost to Barnes and Denbow 3-6 and 2-6, but Wright and Brinko defeated Thaler and Houth, Rockets, 6-3 and 6-1, and Brown and McGeoch, Titans, dropped Book and White in the final tilt, 7-5 and 6-2.

The victory over the Rockets made it two wins and two losses for the season, with victories over Bethany and Slippery Rock, and losses to Muskingum and Allegheny. The Titans travel to Geneva for their fifth match today.

HON. R. A. NAGEL PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

ELLWOOD CITY, May 10.—Nothing but the best for mother. That is the impression left by the Ellwood City Elks when they honored their mothers with a banquet and program in their beautiful ballroom Sunday afternoon.

It was an affair and tribute that will not soon be forgotten. The Elks really outdid themselves in this first annual event. All present received lovely flowers as a favor. The tables were centered with vases of roses and carnations. A chicken dinner will all trimmings was served to about 100 guests. The splendid WPA orchestra rendered music during the dinner. Mrs. W. D. Porter delighted those present with some fine vocal selections that were in keeping with the occasion.

Past Exalted Ruler Bruce Myers presided as toastmaster of the day and handled his role in a veteran like manner. He introduced Exalted Ruler Ray Kellnes, who delivered a short appropriate talk. Secretary Denny Schill of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce was next called upon and paid a glowing tribute to mothers. The principal speaker of the occasion was the Hon. R. A. Nagel of North Sewickley, assemblyman from Beaver county and also a brother Elk. Mr. Nagel rendered a touching and stirring address that left a deep impression on those present.

All in all the affair was one of the most successful and impressive enjoyed by the Elks in years.

Several Small Fires Reported

Firemen Answer Alarms Over Week End For Small Blazes In City

Firemen answered four alarms over the week-end, none of which were for blazes of any consequence.

At noon today they were called to the home of David Bowen, of 124 East Fairmont avenue, where Mrs. Bowen became alarmed when the chimney burned out, and made the smoke-pipe red hot. There was no damage.

At 10:45 this morning firemen were called to the W. S. Collins home at 502 Florence avenue, where there was a small fire in the garage. It was quickly extinguished, the loss being around $5.

At 10:05 Sunday evening Assistant Chief Dart was called to the corner of Mill and Washington street, where waste paper in a container at the curb was set afire, presumably by a lighted cigaret. There was no damage.

At 8:30 Sunday evening firemen were summoned to the Roma Restaurant at 13 South Mercer street, where soot which had accumulated behind the furnace took fire. There was no loss.

Why Credit Is Extended

A great many people are under the impression that the Merchant who extends credit finds it necessary to do so in order to draw business.

This is a fallacy proven by the fact that our largest firms who give credit also do a large cash business. The merchant extends credit to some because he has implicit faith in their honesty and ability to pay when the bills become due. It is a superior service he extends to the person of integrity.

And because the merchant does give you this service he is justly entitled to a settlement on the due date. Isn't that only fair?

The first of the month is the recognized due date for all bills of the preceding month with privilege of payment by the tenth. It is up to you to show the merchant your appreciation for the credit he extends by paying all bills promptly.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

If you read the paper carefully this evening you will notice New Castle was honored by a lucky person . . . one of the gentleman passengers of the Hindenburg . . . he stopped at a local beauty salon for a shampoo . . . his story will be found in other columns.

We have in the past and will in the future say words about a certain auto graveyard on the Wilmington Road . . . however a card reached us today with the suggestion that we look at auto graveyards on South Mill street . . . we know exactly how they look and we agree they are a crummie looking lot . . . but they are not on a main highway . . . they are not next to or near private homes where the lawns are kept in order . . . the state has just completed a wonderful building on the Wilmington Road . . . the little settlement where this auto graveyard is located is one of the most beautiful in the county . . . why clutter it up with junk? . . . I'm afraid that is no place for a junk pile.

Here is a good one . . . when one is in the habit of going out with another woman's husband . . . be sure to take home a little knick-Knack . . . such as a red chiffon handkerchief . . . a bright color handkerchief always causes trouble when you go home . . . (I always go through my pockets before going home and thus save any disturbance) . . . we heard of a fellow who didn't Saturday night . . . here is the best tip we know . . . husbands and wives should stay together and then there would be no questions.

We have a chance to get a large institution here in Lawrence County . . . that is if the trips made to Harrisburg by Mr. Eroe and Mr. Hanna mean anything . . . what seems to be the trouble boys? . . . Maybe you will have better luck this week.

* * *

If you are in doubt as to where to buy it . . . where to sell it . . . try a little classified ad and in no time at all you wi'l know.

LEGAL NOTICES

Public Sale In Partition

Louisa A. Shaffer, widow; Elmer J. Shaffer and Marian V. Shaffer, his wife, vs. Olive Shaffer Kramer and Christopher V. Kramer, her husband.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania. No. 1 March Term, 1937. C. P.

By virtue of an order and decree of the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County, made in the above entitled action, authorizing and directing the undersigned to make public sale of the lands hereinafter described, I, Edward D. Pritchard, Esq., high sheriff of the County of Lawrence, State of Pennsylvania, will offer at public sale and outcry to the highest bidder and for the highest and best price that can be obtained therefor, on Monday, May 17, 1937, at 10 o'clock a. m. on the premises located in North Beaver Township, Lawrence County, Penn'a, bounded and described as follows:

All that certain piece or parcel of land situate in North Beaver Township, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows: beginning at a stone, the southeast corner thereof; thence north ¾ degree east, one hundred ninety-six (196) perches to a cut in the center line of the concrete road leading from Mt. Jackson to Bessemer; thence west along the center line of said road six and 42-100 (6.42) perches to a cut in said concrete road, which cut is directly north and in line with the west end of a concrete culvert; thence due south through a part of the original tract, eight and 59-100 (8.59) perches to a post; thence south 82 degrees 50 minutes west, through a part of the original tract, sixteen and 22-100 (16.22) perches to a post; thence north 27 degrees .02 minutes west, through a part of the original tract, eleven and 83-100 (11.83) perches to a cut in the center line of the concrete road leading from Mt. Jackson to Bessemer; thence west by center line of said concrete road eighty-five and 87-100 (85.87) perches to a cut in the center line of said concrete road; thence south 56½ degrees east, twenty-seven (27) perches to a post; thence south ¾ degree west, one hundred forty-three (143) perches to a post; thence east twenty-five (25) perches to a post; thence south ¾ degree west, thirty-six and 2-10 (36.2) perches to a post; thence south 89½ degrees east, sixty-six and 62-100 perches to the place of beginning, containing 106 acres 36.8 perches, more or less.

IMPROVEMENTS: Having thereon erected one two-story brick dwelling house containing seven rooms, pantry, bath, electric, well water, furnace, cement cellar, tin roof. One frame barn. Four frame out-buildings. Premises in medium repair.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third of the purchase money at the confirmation of the sale by the Court, and the remainder in two equal annual installments from that date, with lawful interest, to be secured by bond and mortgage on the premises. The bond and mortgage, embracing attorney's commission in case the same shall be collected by legal process.

Edward D. Pritchard, High Sheriff of Lawrence County. F. F. G. Harper, attorney for plaintiffs.

Stock Market Is Unsettled

Persistent Pressure Is Exerted In Stock Market Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 10.—The stock market extended losses today to more than three points, with tractions, steels, motors, rails, coppers, rubbers and oils all under persistent pressure.

U. S. Steel dropped more than three p ints, Republic dropped close to two, and Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube were slight behind.

Chrysler and General Motors slid more than a point and Westinghouse and General Electric lost as much.

Selling in the rails resulted in a 2-point drop for Atchison and declines of more than a point each for Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central and Northern Paci.'.

Douglas in the aviations, Pullman in the rail equipments, Olive Farm in the farm implements, Sears, Roebuck in the mail orders and U. S. Rubber all lost a point or more.

New lows for the year were reached by B. M. T. common and preferred and I. R. T. in the tractions. The first-named slumped three points.

Bonds were lower. Both cotton and grains turned downward.

Elks Present 110 Mothers With Floral Gifts Sunday

New Castle's Elks yesterday paid an impressive floral tribute to the dearest one of all—to mother.

The lodge, under the direction of its Mothers' Day committee headed by Edward J. Ryan, distributed 47 bouquets to mothers confined to the Jameson Memorial hospital, 23 bouquets to mothers in the New Castle hospital and 40 beautiful roses to mothers at the Almira home on East Washington street.

Along with the separate bouquets went baskets of flowers for the reception desks of the institutions.

Mr. Ryan, aided by Ben Agnew, another Elk, had the assistance of hospital and home authorities. At the Jameson, Miss M. Muth and William Raines assisted them, at the New Castle hospital, Sisters M. Martina and M. Francita and Pasquale Tavolieri helped and at the Almira home Mrs. Rose M. Sloan aided in distributing the gifts.

Each year the Elks sponsor the Mothers' Day floral distribution. Mothers of all colors, races and creeds are remembered.

Ocean Crossing

To Be Attempted by Great Lakes' Man

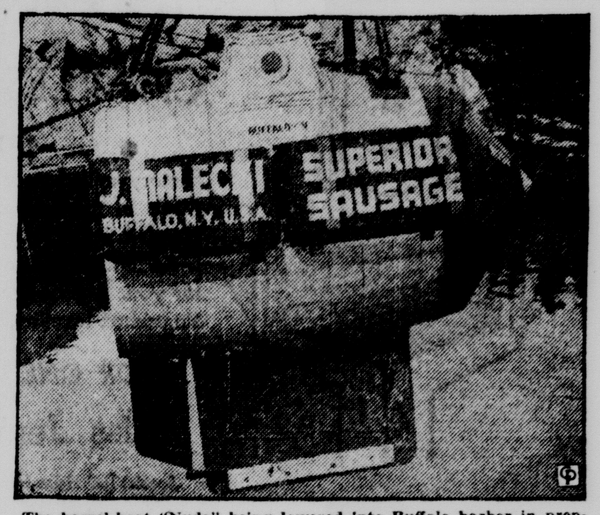

Biegajski painting his barrel-boat "Nuda" in preparation for transatlantic ocean voyage.

Ernest Biegajski, 45-year-old father of three children, is preparing his strange barrel-boat, "Nuda", for a transatlantic ocean voyage. He planned to depart from Buffalo, N. Y., harbor soon for Cleveland in a preliminary trip preparatory to shipping the strange craft to New York for his ocean attempt. Biegajski attempted the same trip on the lakes last year and got only as far as the Buffalo breakwater when he had to be towed back by U. S. coast guardsmen.

How to Keep From Growing Old

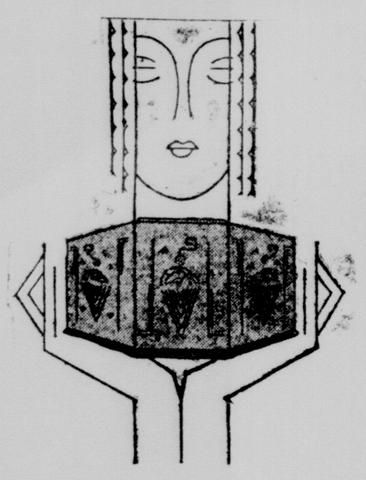

If you don't know how to go about it, one of the better ways to keep from growing old is to share a bear's dinner with him. Keeper Peter Murphy, of New York City's Central Park Zoo lets Maggie, a 250-pound brown bear, take an apple out of his mouth. The question is would the bear bite the face that feeds her. (Central Press)
